"IN TIME OF PEACE

Prepare for war," is an old adage that may well be applied to warn you against unpreparedness for what the near future has in store for you. Refrigerator season is near at hand, and your own refrigerator needs should demand your immediate attention.

No item of household use merits greater consideration and forethought than the thing which is intended to keep in proper condition during the summer months the family's food. Altogether too little attention is paid to the scientific principle necessary to proper preservation of the things we eat, with the result that more than 75 per cent of the refrigerators in use are refrigerators in name only.

Our Refrigerators

are built on correct scientific principles, which insure a low temperature at all times in the food compartments with the least possible consumption of ice and a sanitary condition which makes tainted food an absolute impossibility—selected hard wood cases, steel lined, perfect insulation, rapid circulation of absolutely dry air, make them beyond question the most perfect food preservers on the market. Carload buying brings the price to you down to what is regularly charged for inferior sorts that do not do the work.

TAX LEGISLATION TO BE REVISED.

Expected to Come Up Again in Senate Next Week.

Stone Bridge Repairs Appropriation Referred Back.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, April 28.—It was the talk about the State House today that the tax acts are not of necessity dead after all and that next week will see a strong effort to revive them. It is expected that the identical acts which were buried for the present session in the house will be reported by the senate committee on judiciary, with a proviso that the tax commission shall comprise two Republicans and one Democrat. If this plan does not work it is suggested that Governor Pothier might be prevailed upon to call a special session of the legislature during the summer, and thus force the Republicans to make good their campaign platform pledge of new taxation legislation. The proposed legislation is very objectionable to Newport, and Senator Sanborn, who fought it to its death in the senate a year ago is expected to be a strong opponent to the bills in their present form going through the senate this year.

The senate referred back to committee the resolution to appropriate $30,000 for immediate repairs to the Stone Bridge, it being argued by Senator Arnold of Coventry that it was not known what is needed and a commission should be appointed to investigate and report. The finance committee had had an engineering expert inspect the bridge and report, and it was on this that it reported the resolution and recommended its passage. There was quite a fight over the matter, but the majority voted for delay in the repairs, referring the resolution back to the committee.

Senator Sanborn offered a resolution which provided that for the remainder of the session the hour of assembly be 11 o'clock instead of 12. The senate passed the resolution, and when its being transmitted to the house it was also passed.

Senator Sanborn gave notice that, to further expedite the work of the session, he would Tuesday or some near future day move to repeal the house rules which provide for placing business on the calendar, thus permitting acts to be reported and passed whether or not there is objection and demand for an opportunity to investigation.

The session was a busy one in each house, the committees reporting bills which have been on their hands for a greater or less time and the calendars being well cleared.

In the senate the finance committee reported an amendment to the General Laws to increase the salary of the janitor of the Newport County Jail to $600 a year and that of the state librarian to $2,000 a year. Placed on the calendar.

The following resolutions were passed: Appropriating $5,100 for repairs to the Rhode Island Institute for the Deaf, $400 for repairs to property at the Quonset camp ground, and $32,000 for the state house commission.

An appropriation of $5,000 for three years for the natural resources survey was laid temporarily on the table, Senator Champlin announcing that he proposed to oppose it.

In the house a large number of bills which had already passed the senate were reported favorably. Mr. Littlefield of Block Island introduced an amendment to the lobster law.

From the calendar were taken and passed bills appropriating $50,000 for a court house in Westerly, and the amendment to the oyster fisheries act, which excepts certain land in the Seaconnet river.

NO OBSTACLE ANTICIPATED.

Warman Has Nothing to Say Relative to Extension of the Grand Trunk.

BOSTON, April 28.—No further obstacle to the entrance of the Grand Trunk Railroad into Providence, R. I., is anticipated by the officials of that road, according to Cy Warman, its assistant general manager, who is in this city today. Vice President Fitzhugh having continued on for the far Northwest. Except to say the officials of his road had been overwhelmed by expressions of friendliness and good will, by the officials of Boston and Massachusetts, Mr. Warman had nothing to say relative to the invitation to extend the Grand Trunk to Boston.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO DECIDE.

To Give His Opinion on the Validity of New Haven Road Agreement.

BOSTON, April 28.—The question of the validity of the agreement between the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the New York Central Railroad, regarding the financial affairs of the Boston & Albany Railroad, was passed on to the attorney general today by the senate, the main point being whether such an agreement is a violation of the laws of the Albany to the New York Central. The order for the opinion of the attorney general was introduced yesterday by Senator Roger Hoar and was adopted today without debate. The order also asks whether any of the laws of the state have been violated by the agreement. As the questions are those of law, the railroad commissioner who received the text of the agreement will not pass on the matter, the decision of the attorney general being deemed sufficient.

EXPECTED FIGHT NOT DEVELOPED.

La Follette Contents Himself With a Protest.

Senate Adopts Majority Lists of Committees.

WASHINGTON April 28.—The Senate formally organized for business today, by adopting the list of appointments to committees drawn up by the majority of both parties. The expected fight, threatened by the progressive Republicans, did not develop, Senator La Follette contenting himself with reading a formal protest against the selections made by the regular Republicans.

The La Follette statement, prepared at a conference of the 13 insurgents—Kenyon, the new Senator from Iowa, having joined the original 12—set forth at some length the growth of the so-called progressive movement in the Republican party. It asserted that the progressive Republicans entertain marked and well defined differences of opinion from the regulars, now have more than one fourth of the Republican membership in the Senate and have become a "settled and established fact in political history." The progressives, it was claimed, had a right to one fourth representation on the various committees.

The protest was directed especially against the finance committee, on which the insurgents wished to place Senator Bristow, and the interstate commerce commission, on which Mr. La Follette desired a place. Three of the nine Republicans on the interstate commerce committee, it was pointed out, were from New England and it was asserted that this committee has been left in the hands of persons not friendly to advanced legislation regarding the railroads and the finance committee has been left in the control of the "ultra high-tariff Republicans."

When Mr. LaFollette has concluded the insurgents' statement Senator Gallinger, chairman of the committee on committees, said he was quite content to let the statement go before the country, together with the list of committees as framed. As matter of fact, they were given 114 places. "In the division of assignments," he added, "the committee on committees believed it was acting equitably and justly."

The committee list was then adopted, with a few scattering "Noes" from the insurgents.

FOR AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Bill Introduced Concerning Carriers and Clerks in Postoffices.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Representative Reilly of Connecticut has introduced a bill providing an eight-hour work day for mail carriers and clerks in first and second class postoffices, the eight hours to be construed within a limit of ten consecutive hours and for pro rata compensation for all work in excess of eight hours a day. It was referred to the committee on postoffices and post roads.

THE WORK OF A CONGRESSMAN.

Taft Uses This Text in His Concluding Address in New York.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The arduous work of a member of Congress was the text of the concluding address made by President Taft on his two days' visit to New York. He talked about the Congressmen for a half hour at an uptown banquet hall, just before he was whirled away to take his early morning train for Washington. The occasion was a dinner to Ex-Congressman J. Van Vechten Olcott, who was swept out of office by a Democratic rival in the last election.

"The work of a Congressman," said the President, "is not easy, not if he does all that his constituents expect him to do in the way of errand running, and at the same time all that his oath requires him to do in the way of preparation for his duties. Committee work does not shine conspicuously before the public, but it is laborious, an absorbing study and the good hard, an absorbing study and the good representatives of the people are frequently not appreciated at home because the real work in Congress is most always, not generally, done on the floor and does not shine in the record. Of course there is a good deal of loafing among Congressmen, as there is among other people but the keeping up with committee reports, the voting as one ought to vote, the investigations that have to be made, are a burdensome task. And when you get a good Congressman let me tell you it is your duty to send him back as often as you get the opportunity. The Congressmen who come to Washington for their first session are perforce obliged to mark time, to prepare themselves to be useful later, and they ought to be sent not for one term, but for ten terms if they are properly to represent their constituents."

FOR SCIENTIFIC ATTAINMENTS.

The Helen Culver Medal Goes to Sir John Murray, the Oceanographer.

CHICAGO, April 28.—The fifth Helen Culver gold medal conferred by the Geographic Society of Chicago, for extraordinary scientific attainments, was bestowed last night upon Sir John Murray, K. C. B. F. R. S., the oceanographer. He delivered a lecture before the society at the Art Institute upon recent discoveries in connection with the study of oceanic conditions the world over.

Sir John Murray offered to contribute $10,000, should reciprocal agreements be made, whereby Canada and the United States should begin a joint study of the Great Lakes. "I see no greater field for your investigation along scientific lines than this great system of lakes," he said. "You can have no idea of the economic value and the educational profit resulting from such an investigation until it is taken up. I would urge seriously such a task upon you."

Bailey Case Against Street Railway Before the Supreme Court.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, April 28.—Arguments were heard and briefs were submitted before the supreme court this morning in the case of Elizabeth E. Underwood and others, executrices of the will of William Bailey, late of Middletown, against the Old Colony Street Railway Company. This case has already been tried twice in Newport and was once before presented to the supreme court, which had a short hearing on this appeal Wednesday.

Mr. Bailey was killed by the cars of the defendant company. At the first trial the jury gave plaintiffs a verdict of $8,500, which Judge Baker, who heard the case, cut to $5,000. It was carried to the supreme court, which, without regard to other points sent it back for a new trial, on the ground that one of the jurors was interested. It was tried again last October before Judge Brown and numerous exceptions were made on the refusal to admit evidence. These exceptions were up for hearing today. The four questions to which the numerous exceptions were finally reduced were:

1—Were the portions of the charge to the jury excepted to by defendant erroneous and prejudicial to defendant?

2—Was there prejudice and error in the refusal to grant any of the instructions requested by the defendant which were refused?

3—Was the refusal of the trial justice to grant a new trial on the ground that the verdict was against the evidence erroneous?

4—Was the refusal of the court to direct a verdict for defendant erroneous?

Mr. W. M. Moss of Gardner, Pierce & Thornley appeared for the railroad and Harvey A. Baker and Waterman, Curran & Hunt for plaintiff. Counsel argued on each of these questions during the morning and the case was left before the court at recess, and will be continued this afternoon. The arguments are largely legal and technical.

LABOR UNIONS AT WAR.

Chicago's Threatened Lock-Out May Throw Many Out of Work.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Architects and building contractors have served as ultimatum on the warring labor unions that unless they settle their jurisdictional disputes by next Tuesday, there will be a general shut down of building operations in Chicago. Already several thousand workmen are idle because of jurisdictional disputes. It is estimated that the threatened lock-out will throw at least 35,000 men out of employment.

Among the unions at war with each other over work are the plumbers against the steam fitters; the carpenters against the sheet metal workers and building laborers; the bricklayers and building laborers against the cement workers and the elevator constructors against the machinists and electrical workers.

M'MANIGAL'S CONFESSION.

Associate of the McNamaras to be a Second Orchard.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 27.—Counsel for John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Association, and his brother James, who are charged with complicity in the Times explosion, said tonight that Ortie McManigal, the man arrested as a fellow conspirator of the McNamaras, will be treated henceforth as a second "Harry Orchard." The McNamaras are now the only clients of the attorneys retained by labor organizations, and their legal fire will be concentrated on McManigal.

McManigal was examined for three hours today by District Attorney Fredericks. O. N. Hilton, chief counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, said he was convinced that McManigal made sworn statements today purporting to fix the guilt of the Times building explosion and other dynamite outrages.

"I knew that there would be a confession," said Hilton, "as soon as I talked with McManigal. He said he would not engage an attorney until he had seen Burns, the man who arrested him. Then, in the presence of competent witnesses, I asked McManigal the direct question whether he had ever made a purported confession or expected to make one. He answered that he had not, and would not. Twenty minutes later he was in the district attorney's office. I made it a point to see McManigal first. Now, if an alleged confession is presented in court, we will be in a position to present to the jury a denial."

When asked whether McManigal had exacted freedom as the price of turning state's evidence, District Attorney Fredericks replied in the negative.

According to Mr. Fredericks, Mrs. Ingersoll, a San Francisco boarding house keeper, completed her identification today of James McNamara as the much-sought-for J. B. Bryce, and signed an affidavit to that effect.

John J. McNamara sent a despatch late today to his mother, Mrs. M. T. McNamara of Cumminsville, Ohio. It read: "We are absolutely innocent. Confident acquittal. Receiving every attention."

More light was thrown upon McManigal's alleged confession of the dynamiting of the Llewellyn Iron Works in this city by Robert Brain, under-sheriff of this county, who had charge of McManigal in the trans-continental trip just ended. Brain said the prisoner voluntarily confessed to him while on the train.

According to Brain, McManigal brought up the subject the second day out of Chicago, by asking what punishment would be given him if he were to turn state's evidence.

"I am not in a position to tell you," was Brain's reply. "Are you going to do it?"

"Yes," answered McManigal. "I'm going to tell."

"You know what you are charged with?" inquired Brain.

"Yes, I am charged with dynamiting the plant of the Llewellyn Iron Works."

"Did you do it?"

"Sure, I did."

"What did you get for it?"

"Two hundred dollars," responded McManigal. "That is the price for all such jobs."

"Do you know Bryce?" was Brain's next question.

"Yes."

Then McManigal said he would stop talking, but added: "When I get out there I'll tell you about it."

John J. McNamara gave out his first authorized statement as to his arrest to the press today as follows:

"To the Brotherhood of Organized Labor in California and the United States:

"In the present attempt to crush and discredit the cause we represent, I realize fully the desperation of the enemies of labor arrayed against us, but I am of good heart, for it will fail.

"That I am innocent of any infraction of the law, in word or act, needs no emphasis from me, for the truth is mighty and will prevail right speedily, and for it I shall contentedly wait.

"I send to all brothers and friends of union labor, the world over, my earnest and affectionate greetings, with the assurance that there is no villainy or conspiracy possible of which we are afraid.

"I am also confident that it is not asking too much of the public to suspend judgment in these matters until opportunity for a full and fair defense has been afforded."

HOUSE VOTES FOR 433 MEMBERS.

Bill Passed After Vain Efforts to Amend It.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A bill providing for the enlargement of the national House of Representatives from 391 to 433 members, and the apportionment of these members to the different states on the basis of the population shown by the recent federal census, passed the House early this evening after vain efforts of members of both political parties to amend it in important particulars. The proposed size of the House is identical with that provided for in the Crumpacker bill, passed by the House at the last session of Congress, but not acted upon by the Senate.

The Houston bill passed today leaves to the legislatures of the different states the power to re-arrange the congressional districts in their respective states on the new population basis of one member for every 211,877 of inhabitants.

The two important amendments proposed and defeated after long debate were to put the re-districting power in the hands of the governors of states when the legislatures had failed to act and to limit the House in the future to a membership of 430 or 433, leaving future re-apportionment to the Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Both amendments were vigorously championed by the Republicans and had some Democratic support.

The increase of the size of the House was agreed to by members of both parties, but many Republicans opposed it on the ground that it would make the house more unwieldy. The Republicans were particularly [illegible] in opposing the increase [illegible] said that if it were not for the demands of those states that would otherwise lose members there would be a general sentiment in favor of keeping the membership at the present size of 391.

Under the provisions of the Crumpacker bill Rhode Island was to gain one Representative in Congress. Other states were scheduled to gain as follows: Alabama, 1; California, 3; Colorado, 1; Florida, 1; Georgia, 1; Idaho, 1; Illinois, 2; Louisiana, 1; Massachusetts, 2; Michigan, 1; Minnesota, 1; Montana, 1; New Jersey, 1; New York, 6; North Dakota, 1; Ohio, 1; Oklahoma, 3; Oregon, 1; Pennsylvania, 4; South Dakota, 1; Texas, 2; Utah, 1; Washington, 2; West Virginia, 1.

LOSS EXCEEDS $150,000.

Fire Destroys the Canadian Car & Foundry Company's Plant.

AMHERST, Nova Scotia, April 27.—A destructive fire broke out today in the plant of the Canadian Car & Foundry Co. here, one of the largest car shops in Canada. The blaze originated in the blacksmith shop, a brick structure 200 feet long, practically destroying the building with its contents. After a hard fight the firemen brought the flames under control, but when it was thought the battle had been won the blaze spread to the machine shop adjoining. The machine shop was a wooden structure, and the fire spread rapidly through it and then communicated to other buildings of the plant. The local department was inadequate to cope with the fire and aid was summoned from the neighboring New Brunswick city of Moncton.

The fire was extinguished shortly after noon, after it had destroyed the blacksmith and machine shops and the iron foundry. The loss will be between $150,000 and $200,000, and several hundred hands will be thrown out of employment temporarily. The rolling mills, malleable iron axle and other shops were not damaged and will be kept in operation. The cause of the fire has not been determined. A Canadian Pacific freight car, loaded with pig iron, which was on a side track near the car shops, was burned, but all other rolling stock was moved before it could be damaged.

The Chief Difference Between

and other boilers is that they heat the houses they are rated to heat;—you don't have to get the "next larger size."

These Boilers give more heat per pound of coal than others and cost less in repairs. They are simplicity itself in operation, are guaranteed for zero weather efficiency and to save fuel, labor, worry and money to those who use them.

There are no packed joints, sheet iron parts or brick linings in these Boilers, and the "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors are found in no others.

They are a gilt edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care.

Cutting Out One Factor In The High Cost of Living

One of the chief causes of high prices is high profits. Any plan that reduces the size or the number of profits that stand between the factory and you is a plan in your benefit.

Regal Shoes are Sold Direct from the Factory to Wearer at Cost Plus Five Per Cent. Commission and the Low Regal Selling Cost

Heretofore, all good shoes have been built to sell at fixed "even" prices—$3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00 and so on. If a shoe could be sold at, say $4.35, shoe traditions would not permit it. It had to be "built up" by adding unnecessary expense to sell at $4.50, or "cut down" (to its hurt) to sell at $4.00.

All this has been changed by the Regal Shoe Company's new plan of selling shoes just as many other necessities are sold—and just as all necessities should be—at a definite, small commission over cost of manufacture—in our case only 5 per cent.—plus the cost of selling.

It makes no difference whether or not the price figures out in "even money." The new plan gives you Regal Shoes nearer to actual cost, and charged with smaller and fewer profits than any other make. The price is stamped on the shoes at the factory. This stamp is your guaranty that more of your money goes for quality and less for profit than in any other shoe you can buy.

This is the stamp that will hereafter be found on Regal Shoes. It is your guarantee that the price appearing in its centre is the lowest for which a shoe of such quality can be bought.

Regal Prices are now 3^{35} to 5^{85}

BIRTH RATE IN RHODE ISLAND.

Many of the White Women of Native Parentage Are Childless.

Ratio Among French Canadians and Italian Immigrants Exceeds That of Americans.

Census statistics show that in Rhode Island, of the white women of native parentage who have been married between 10 and 20 years, 17.5 per cent were childless, more than one woman in six had no children. The proportion of white women of foreign parentage who had borne no children was 8 per cent, or less than one woman in 12. The highest percentages were those for French Canadian and Italian women, of whom only one in 20, or 5 per cent, have had no children. The largest percentage was that for native negro women of whom 22.5 per cent have had no children. The proportion among married white women of foreign parentage bearing no children is greater in the second generation than in the first, being 10.5 per cent in the second and 7.2 per cent in the first generation.

These figures are taken from the schedules of the twelfth national census in 1900 and appear in a report prepared for the immigration commission by Dr. J. A. Hill, chief statistician of the division of revision and results of the census bureau. The report dealt with the birth rate among immigrant women. The conclusions are drawn by Dr. Hill that the birth rate is much greater among the married white women of foreign parentage than among the married native American women of native parentage; that it is especially greater in the first generation of foreign stock than in the second, that it is on the whole greater in rural districts than in cities. It is shown also that a high percentage of childlessness prevails among married negro women in northern cities.

The sections of the United States selected for this study were th state of Rhode Island, the city of Cleveland, Ohio, and 48 largely rural counties in Ohio; the city of Minneapolis, Minn., and 71 largely rural counties in Minnesota. Rhode Island is a compact eastern state with a population largely urban and manufacturing in character. Ohio and Minnesota are middle western states, Cleveland and Minneapolis are largely urban and manufacturing communities and the selected counties in each state rural and agricultural conditions.

Childlessness among negro women in the North is one of the notable facts brought out in the returns. In Minneapolis 19.1 per cent of the negro women bear no children. Practically the same percentage, 19.6, is shown for the city of Cleveland, while in Rhode Island the percentage was 23.1. Of the white women of native parentage included in Rhode Island tabulation 17.5 per cent had not more than two children, while of the white women of foreign parentage the percentage was 26.0, only 9.2 per cent of the white women of native parentage had more than five children, while of the white women of foreign parentage 35.4 per cent had more than that number, and the percentage of French Canadians with more than that number of children was 53.2. The French Canadian immigrants are bearing children two and three times as fast as the native American women. The Italian women nearly approach but do not quite equal the French Canadians.

The data tabulated for the purpose of this inquiry relate to the number of children borne by married women, that is women living in the married state at the time the census was taken. Widowed and divorced women were not included, mainly because the number of years they had been married could not be ascertained from the census returns. Women married less than two years were excluded, because a large proportion of them, more than three-fourths of the total number, had not been married long enough to have any children. Women over 45 also were omitted, because for the purpose in view it seemed best to consider only those women who were under 45 and all or nearly all native married life would therefore fall within the child-bearing period.

The returns show the native white married women of native parentage in the districts from which the returns were taken had borne in the aggregate a child every 5.3 years, while the women of foreign parentage had borne one every 3.2 years. The first generation of the white of foreign parentage, representing the immigrant women, had one child every three years and the second generation had one every 4.3 years. For each foreign nationality the number of years married per child was less in the first generation than in the second, with very few exceptions.

Comparing the different nationalities the fecundity is shown to be greatest in the first generation of Polish women, who had, on the average, a child every 2.3 years; next that it is greater in the second generation of Italian women who had on the average one child every five years. The American white women of native parentage who had been married from 15 to 20 years the average number of children in Cleveland and in Minneapolis is exactly the same, 2.4, practically differs from the average in Rhode Island, 2.5. The average in Ohio is followed by 1, or nearly 1, child in rural Ohio and in rural Minnesota, where it is 3.4. In other words, in the rural districts of Ohio and Minnesota the women of native American parentage bore in the second decade of their married life had borne on the average one more child than the same class of women in the cities of Cleveland and Minneapolis or in the state of Rhode Island, which is largely urban.

As regards the women of foreign parentage the difference between an urban and a rural environment is not so marked, nor is it uniform. Indeed the average number of children of each nationality is highest in Minnesota and lowest in Minneapolis or Cleveland or else in Rhode Island; there are some exceptions. Thus the first generation of Canadian women the average number of children is greatest in Rhode Island as it is in rural Minnesota. For the first generation of Bohemians it is as great in cities as it is in rural Minnesota. The figures for the first generation of Irish indicate that environment has little effect. On the other hand the first generation of English, German and Scotch appear to have more children in the cities than in the country districts.

The percentage of women bearing children is much higher among the women of native parentage than among the white of foreign parentage. The percentage bearing no children is greater in the second generation of the native than of foreign parentage than in the first.

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Newport Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are common symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Newport. Follow the advice of a Newport citizen.

George C. Kaull, 11 Cranston Ave., Newport, R. I., says: "I am not certain as to the cause of my kidney trouble but believe it was due to drinking impure water. Some time ago I was attacked by a dull ache across the small of my back. The kidney secretions also became scanty and painful in passage, and caused me considerable annoyance during the night. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and found relief upon taking the contents. The use of the second box effected a complete cure, for which I am truly grateful."

AUTRE FOIS.

[Martha G. D. Bianchi in the Atlantic.]

'Tis not this April day one sees,
Beguiled the way of orchard trees
'Neath snows of bloom and starting green—
Oh, not alone this spring I ween!
Nor this spring's bird the lover hears—
But all the birds of other years.

Dimly the senses apprehend
The amber sunset's fragrant blend
Of buried loves and dear unrest—
That linger in the blossomed West,
As ecstasies of Mays long flown
To lyric heavens of their own.

Yet, heart of Nature's mystery!
Within each budding prophecy,
Each sungful miracle of dawn—
Faint spring's forever passed and gone
Look back at us with April eyes
From memory's lost paradise.

A RARE-EARTH METAL.

The mineral monazite is the principal source of the rare-earth oxide, thoria, which has in recent years come into wide use in the manufacture of mantles for incandescent gas lights. Some of the other rare-earth metals found in monazite also have a small commercial application. Thus, the discovery by von Welsbach that alloys of iron with cerium and lanthanum and other constituents of monazite emit large and brilliant sparks when scratched by a file has been put to practical use. These alloys are now used in patent gas-lighting apparatus.

Monazite occurs originally, in the form of small grains and crystals, as an accessory mineral of the granites and gneissic rocks of some regions, but it is usually obtained from placer deposits in the form of sand derived from the disintegration of these rocks. The world's supply has been obtained for many years from Brazil and the United States. In Brazil monazite has been mined from the beaches along the seacoast, but in the United States it has come from stream and creek gravel deposits in North Carolina and South Carolina. Large deposits have been found in Idaho, but these have not yet been used as a source of supply.

TEN PAGES.

THE POWER OF THE REGISTRY VOTERS.

When the Democrats put the Republicans on record on the amendment to the constitution providing for the repeal of the property qualification, only eight of the members of the latter party in the legislature voted in favor of the change. All the others must go before their constituents next November, if they desire to go back to the Assembly, with the record of having refused even to give the people an opportunity to vote upon the measure which would afford manhood suffrage in this state. That is a record, which probably will not place them high in the esteem of the registry voters.

It is not likely that all these men have stopped to consider just what this action on their part means. It is doubtful if many if any of them have counted up the number of registry voters in the cities or towns which they represent, to learn how easy it would be to compass their defeat if they should all register and vote against them in the fall. It is, however, easy for any one of these members of the legislature to do that, and if they have not done so already they will doubtless be surprised to find that they have been putting their heads into the lion's mouth and exposing themselves to almost certain defeat, if the registry voters should take a notion to rise against them at the polls.

It has been estimated conservatively that there are in this state about 50,000 voters of that class, while there are only about 17,000 property voters. It is not difficult to appreciate in the light of these figures what power lies in the hands of the former and how thoroughly the legislators are in their power. If these Republicans who voted against the amendment really wish to go back to the legislature another year they may well tremble at the prospect before them, for their defeat is practically certain if the registry voters desire to accomplish it.

PROFIT-SHARING FOR PRISONERS.

The new departure made not long ago at the state prison and county jail at Cranston, of sharing with the prisoners the profits of the work done by them, has been a great success, according to the reports made by those in charge of the institutions. At the end of the first quarter during which the new rule was in effect there was earned for distribution among the prisoners several hundred dollars, and it is the belief that this sum will be considerably increased during the second quarter, as the system develops and settles down into a regular condition. What this will mean to the prisoners when they finish their terms and are ready to go out into the world again and take positions among the workers no one who has not studied the old system can appreciate, but to those who are familiar with the former conditions it is evident. Until this system was adopted a prisoner going out at the end of his term had no resources and no way to give himself a new start, unless he had friends able and willing to help him, and it was not seldom the case that the man drifted back into a life of crime from sheer lack of the means to do anything different and to be respectable.

Under the new regime when a prisoner receives his liberty he will also have at his disposal a sum of money large enough at least to take care of him for a short period, during which he can be looking for work or which can be used in taking him to a new field where his past will be unknown and he will be able to make a new start on the right road to good citizenship. The plan has not been tried in many penal institutions yet, though it has the endorsement of penologists and others who are concerned in the social welfare of those who are in the submerged classes. The success attained under the practice in this state, however, will go far toward spreading its adoption generally, and so Rhode Island will have the credit of being a pioneer in this direction through the good work of Warden McCusker and his associates in charge of the state's penal institutions.

PROGRESS IN THE LORIMER CASE.

The men who are trying to protect Lorimer in his seat are doing the most effective work to promote the scheme for the direct election of Senators. Many of them are opposed to this change in our practice, but the agitation for the plan comes entirely from the belief that such elections as Lorimer's are not uncommon.

That there was bribery in the Lorimer election is admitted. That there was a good deal of it is almost certain. That there was enough of it to determine the result is highly probable. Whether or not the Senate committee which went to Illinois and made the investigation tried very hard to find evidence, it succeeded only moderately; its evidence left room for honest men to differ as to whether Lorimer should be unseated. Since the Senate acted on the committee report the Illinois investigation has struck a lead which has already begun to yield substantial results. Three Chicago bankers, one of whom according to the man who told the story to Mr. Kohlsaat of The Chicago Record was the treasurer of the corruption fund, have disobeyed subpoenas and refused to go before the committee and tell what they know. That conduct admits only one construction.

One witness who has been before the investigating committee testified that Hines, a prominent lumber man, said Lorimer had been selected for Senator because Boutell, who had previously been considered, voted for free lumber. It may be remembered that while the Lorimer case was under debate in the Senate the capitol was reported in Washington despatches to be thronged with lumber men, who were trying to secure votes for Lorimer from the lumber regions of the South.

The various pieces of testimony so far obtained since Kohlsaat's informant came out in the open and told all he knew fit together like the pieces of a picture puzzle, and when all are found and put together we are likely to have a picture of an ex-Senator, and the nefarious practice of corrupting legislatures in order to secure the election of Senators who will support particular monetary interests will receive, for the time at least, a severe setback.

"DOLLAR DIPLOMACY."

Secretary Knox has been repeatedly criticised for what is nicknamed his "dollar diplomacy," meaning the use of the State Department and the foreign service in pushing the American trade. It is a curious complaint to be made by Americans, for we are decidedly a commercial nation, with a preponderating commercial interest in all our foreign relations. We have fewer interests in our foreign relations outside of commerce than European nations have, and yet "dollar diplomacy" has been habitually practiced by all the foreign offices in Europe. The demand that our consuls should push our trade is constant, and many of our manufacturers have seemed to think consuls were commercial travelers maintained at public expense for their benefit, but now that the diplomatic service is expected to push our commercial and financial interests there is a howl about the degradation of our envoys.

It has been reported that Mr. Straus and Mr. Hill resigned because they were expected to aid in pushing our foreign trade or obtaining concessions from foreign governments, but all the trade concessions in Turkey, Persia, China and South America have been subjects of European diplomacy. What the ambassadors of European monarchs do one would suppose the envoys of the United States might do without impairing their dignity. The Kaiser himself has taken a personal part in securing concessions from Turkey for German enterprises.

In regard to the contracts for Argentine battleships, there is no doubt that the foreign offices of England and Germany were using their influence to secure the contracts for their own "nationals," and the plans offered to Argentina if she would give the contract to Americans are secret in only a very small sense. All the maritime nations build war vessels, and build them for foreign governments when they have the opportunity. There cannot be any secrets about the essential features of a war vessel and the English builders who sought the contract build vessels for their own government and knew, therefore, whatever "secrets" the Admiralty possesses.

The proposition to bring Church street and Catherine street into line at the junction is in the interest of neither safety nor beauty, as the promoters would have us believe. The situation at that point is such that the change should not be made. We ought not to fit the streets and avenues of the city for race courses, for fast driven horses, and automobiles.

It looks as if the Grand Trunk would really come to Rhode Island. Boston has made flattering offers to induce the road to make its ocean terminal at that point, but President Hayes agrees to accept a substitute layout to the bay in Providence, for the sake of saving time and reaching the waters of Narragansett Bay. Competition in transportation, as in most other business arrangements, usually means benefits to the public.

Since Pennsylvania interests secured control of the Portsmouth coal mines little is heard about activity there and the stock is steadily quoted lower. There was regret in some circles when it was learned that the big operators had gained control, for it was feared that the mines would not be allowed to be developed as a real competitor of the Pennsylvania product.

Newport's public service corporations seem to be catching it all around. An inquiry made in the proper spirit would certainly not be out of place and might result in real benefit to the people.

Perhaps it is not so much cheaper gas which would be of interest to the citizens as better gas. The present illuminant is high at almost any price.

THE MAY MAGAZINES.

In the May number of the North American Review the leading article is by Rear Admiral A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., on "Arbitration and Armaments," and outlines this strategist's view of the inter-relation of these two factors in world politics. "President Taft and His Program" is a presentation of Richard Hooker of the various situations of national concerns and the policies the executive is pursuing in order to meet each in the best way. The Honorable George E. Foster, M. P., ex-minister of finance of Canada, contributes a paper on "The Reciprocity Agreement" from a Canadian standpoint. He is strongly in opposition to the proposal and substantiates his argument with skill.

"The Recall of Judges," by Albert Fink, is a closely analyzed brief for the government against the adoption of the measure. Medill McCormick, in "Republican Embarrassments," makes an appeal to the Republican party to compose their differences and choose a compelling leader for the next campaign. "The Railroad Rate Decision" is a summary of the probable effects of the conclusions reached in this case by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The well known English author, Sydney Brooks, writes on "The Politics of American Business," dealing in detail with certain aspects of public ownership.

A literary essay of charm will be found in "The Later Art of Mr. Kipling," by Brian Hooker, who in his discipleship shows restraint. The Abbe Ernest Dimnet writes appreciatively of a French poet whose recent death is deplored in France, "The Poet Auguste Angellier." "Opera in English," by Lawrence Gilman; "The Leaves of the Tree," by A. C. Benson, "New Books Reviewed," and "Under Western Eyes," by Joseph Conrad, complete the number.

Mention of the National Magazine is likely to bring before the American public the picture of a periodical whose hustling editor, if he does not exactly "live in a trunk," seems to pass his days in continual association with a dress suit case. This month an international impulse compelled Joe Chapple to start on a whirlwind excursion to Europe, to make a first-hand study of the legislative bodies of the Old World. An overture to this account, giving the observations of the wayfaring magazine editor on his way, is published in the May number.

One of Hutchins's best three-color cover designs is an airship such as at the present time play a prominent part in the war manoeuvres on the Mexican border. These army manoeuvres are woven into a story by Wilbur Daniel Steele.

The third instalment of William Hodge's serial, "The Guest of Honor," continues to increase in interest. "Affairs at Washington" contain more than usually interesting sketches of prominent men and vital topics. "A New Industrial Leader" draws a lively pen picture of James A. Farrell, the new president of the United States Steel Corporation, with whom the author, Robert J. Thompson, has the advantage of a personal acquaintance. A monograph, "Remember the Maine," gives a resume of the cause and details of that tragic destruction of a great warship and her crew.

"Man's Ideal of Christ as expressed in Art and Drama," by Maitland Leroy Osborne, will place an ever interesting theme in strong lights. "Some Phases of Proposed Financial Legislation," by Daniel G. Wing, president of the First National Bank, Boston, sets forth in simple terms proposed changes of our financial system. "The Merchant in Ancient History" continues the popular series of the "Nobility of the Trades" by Charles Winslow Hall. An account of "Presidential Trips by Land and by Sea," by the editor, embodies his experiences while accompanying four Presidential tours.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Grand Trunk Accepts New Haven Plan, Insuring Independent Right of Way.

Retail Grocers and Marketmen Endorse the Scheme—Silver Company Absorbed.

The controversy over the Grand Trunk's route to tidewater in Providence was ended Thursday afternoon. Vice President Fitzhugh accepted the New Haven's counter proposal of an under-grade crossing near Elmwood avenue, the New Haven to pay the excess of cost involved by that plan, as compared with the Grand Trunk's original proposal for a crossing at grade. This compromise assures an entirely independent right of way for the Grand Trunk through Provdence to tidewater. After the agreement has been reached and approved by the house committee on corporations, Vice President Fitzhugh said that within 24 hours after the amendment to the charter thus agreed upon is legally passed by the General Assembly, the Southern New England Railway will accept its charter and organize under the laws of Rhode Island. Mr. Fitzhugh added: "The Grand Trunk Railway is satisfied with the amended plan proposed by Mr. Buckland. His original proposition, to which we objected, has been so amended as to remove our former objections. The corporation of the Southern New England Railway Company will be duly organized as soon as this amendment becomes law." The agreement was reached at a conference between officials of the Canadian road, the New Haven road and the corporations committee of the house of representatives. By a unanimous vote of this legislative committee the plan to which both roads agreed was endorsed and the committee will recommend this passage by the General Assembly. The Grand Trunk agrees to cross the Harbor Junction branch of the New Haven near Elmwood avenue below grade instead of at grade, as was originally proposed. The New Haven agrees to give sufficient bond to the Grand Trunk that if the under-grade crossing proves more costly than the grade crossing plan the New Haven will pay the additional cost of construction. With the exception of this crossing problem the Grand Trunk will receive practically everything it asked for in its original request for an amendment to its charter in Rhode Island. Slight changes in the locations of its rails will be necessary to carry out the agreement, but the general features of the first request from the Grand Trunk officials are agreed to by the New Haven.

The third annual convention of the Rhode Island Retail Grocers' and Marketmen's Association, which was held in Providence Thursday afternoon adopted a resolution which will be sent to the General Assembly, petitioning that body to give the Grand Trunk an equal opportunity with the New Haven Company to extend its rails to tidewater. The adoption of the railroad resolution and another condemning wholesalers who sell goods at retail, and the election of officers for the ensuing year, with R. A. Gibbs of West Barrington as the head, completed the budget of business transacted. The convention was brought to a close with a banquet in the evening, at which Mayor Fletcher of Providence and Mayor F. X. Leonidas Rattey of Central Falls sat side by side as the invited guests of the association. The chief executives of the two cities were referred to constantly throughout the three hours of after-dinner speechmaking in a flattering manner, and as a feature of the affair they were accorded three rousing cheers, at the conclusion of Mayor Rattey's address, in which he denounced trading stamps.

Historical and patriotic societies are evincing keen interest in the proposition to observe to some fitting way the anniversary in June of the founding of the city of Providence, and also to establish the day selected as Founders' day, to be observed annually by the people of the state and the pupils of the public schools as historic in the annals of the state. The municipality is 275 years of age.

The Silversmiths Company, the holding company which controls the Gorham Manufacturing Company and other large silversmithing companies throughout New England, has purchased the entire assets of the Roger Williams Silver Company of Providence, with the exception of the stock held by Theodore Bander. A new manager has been placed in charge of the plant and the business will be conducted under its present name. The business of the Roger Williams Silver Company has been the manufacture of sterling silver hollow ware, flat-ware and toilet ware, and a New York office has been maintained. One of the largest stockholders in the company previous to its recent purchase was Joseph Banigan, who, it is understood, held a controlling interest.

The contract for erecting a life saving station at Green Hill in South Kingstown has been awarded by the United States government to the R. A. Sherman Sons Company of Westerly and that concern will start work soon. The buildings will cost $15,000. The building for the men is to be 35 by 37 feet and the boat house 24 by 40 feet. The coast between Charlestown and Point Judith has never been patrolled before and the establishment of a station here has long been agitated.

In the will of Susan C. Sawyer of Providence, the following bequests are made: Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of Boston, Mass., $500; American Baptist Home Missionary Society of New York city, $500; Charitable Baptist Society of Rhode Island, $200, for the benefit of the poor of the First Baptist Church of Providence.

Calvin Wilbur, 95 years old, appeared at the office of the board of canvassers and registration in Providence Thursday, and registered. Mr. Wilbur, in spite of his advanced years, is straight as an arrow, and signed his name without the aid of glasses. He was born in Massachusetts in 1816, and came to Rhode Island when four years old. He has voted at every election since he attained his majority.

Secretary Silness of the Board of Bar Examiners has announced a list of 10 young men as successful in passing the bar examinations a few weeks ago. Eleven others failed to negotiate the examination successfully. The successful men are Carl L. Cordery, William S. Flynn, Harold W. James, Philip Victor Marcus, Daniel P. MacDonald, Maurice Robinson, John F. Smithers and George A. Stone of Providence; James E. Cumniskey of Crompton and Benjamin F. Lindemuth of Bristol.

For the fourth successive time, Colonel H. Irving King was elected to command the Kentish Artillery, when that organization celebrated its one hundred and fourteenth anniversary in Apponaug. Colonel King succeeded Colonel Howard three and a half years ago.

Old Jake La Rue was a very crusty man, full of gouty aches due to age and overeating. He lost patience with his physician one day because he did not make enough fuss over the pain his patient suffered.

"Doctor," he thundered, "you don't understand! You don't seem to grasp the case! You talk as though there were nothing the matter with me, whereas I am suffering the torments of the damned!"

"What, already?"

"SCUP'S COME."

Not Many Yet, But a Few, and the Trappers Ready for the Rest.

Scup's come. Time there was when this would create more excitement in Newport than it does in 1911, but still to many it is a good sound to hear, as it means that warm weather is here. The scup are not numerous. Burdick, who has traps off Point Judith, has caught two each day for the past two days. They are of medium size, about a pound in weight. The local fishermen will be ready for them, Macomber & Nickerson today completed their trap off Narragansett Pier and the Stevenson River Oyster Company finished one trap off Newport, and the scup can come any time. The Atlantic Trapping Company also had a gang out today, preparing to set.

INSANE MAN ON THE FERRYBOAT

This morning an insane man took leave from Dr. Bates's sanitarium without permission, and boarded the Jamestown boat for Newport. Notice was telephoned to the police station and an officer sent to the landing, to see that the patient did not come ashore. The man showed no intention of doing so until the steamer was leaving the slip for Jamestown again, and then he did nothing to require the attention of the employes of the boat, who were watching his movements closely.

OXX—SINGER.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's rectory Thursday evening, when Miss Katherine J. Singer was married to Mr. Charles W. Oxx, by Father Mahon. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Waters as bridesmaid and Mr. John E. Segerson acted as best man. The bride looked pretty in a champagne broadcloth traveling suit, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore a buff suit and carried a bouquet of violets.

A reception followed at the residence of the new couple on Halsey street, where the presents shown were so numerous as to completely furnish the home. Miss Hattie Sisson, Mrs. Robert Love and Miss A. Oxx assisted Mrs. Singer and Mrs. Peckham, mothers of the bride and groom, in receiving the guests.

OBTAINS A ROMNEY.

Mrs. Edward J. Berwind Purchases Famous Portrait Which Was Painted in 1757.

One of the most beautiful portraits by George Romney, his likeness of Mrs. Blackburne, has been purchased by Mr. Edward J. Berwind. It was acquired several days ago from the Blakesley galleries and it is understood the price was approximately $42,000.

The painting has been reproduced in the standard works concerning the art of Romney. Its subject was a daughter of Samuel Rodbard, Esq., of England, and the portrait for many decades hung in a country house in Somerset. It is marked by simplicity and charm. Mrs. Blackburne is depicted sitting in the open air as though on a knoll, and the pose is exceedingly graceful. The composition has been highly praised. The sitter is clad in a white gown, the folds of which fall in flowing lines, and about her waist is a red sash. Her hands, lightly clasped, rest in her lap. It is a half length portrait.

The canvas is 40 by 50 inches. The records show that it was finished in 1757, and that subsequently it was returned for a short time to the studio of the artist, who painted upon the head the white cap. The work was in Hale hall when it was sought from the family by Messrs. Agnew & Sons. Afterward it was obtained by an English dealer and by him transferred to the Blakeslee galleries.

"MISS OLIVER'S DOLLARS."

Amateur Play by Girls' Friendly Society Followed by Tableaux in National Costumes.

An amateur performance of much credit was "Miss Oliver's Dollars," presented Thursday evening at the Algonkin clubhouse by the members of the Girls' Friendly of Emmanuel church. After the play there was a series of tableaux, representing girls of different nations, which were equally well given.

The play represented a family of limited means, striving by appearances to live up to the standard of their millionaire friends, but in the end their actual condition and real social standing becoming known in the community. It affords amusing incidents and opportunity for all manner of queer situations.

Miss Annie Littlefield as the supposedly rich Mrs. DeForest was tactful and clever, as was Miss Isabella Segrist as the daughter who assisted her mother in the deception. The part of the New England farmer's wife, taken by Miss Mary Power, could hardly have been in more capable hands, or the part of the severe and gloomy looking parson's wife, by Miss Alice Wood. The cast was as follows:

Mrs. DeForest, a supposedly rich society woman, Annie Littlefield.

Ellen, her daughter, Isabelle Segrist.

Madge, the 11-year-old daughter, an "enfant terrible," Gertrude Carley.

Mrs. Kirk, also a society woman, Margaret Greason.

Miss Oliver, her eccentric millionaire aunt, Jessie Dawley.

Mrs. Beebe, a New England farmer's wife, Mary Power.

Mary, her daughter, an actress, Edith McKenzie.

Mrs. Peppius, the parson's wife, Alice Wood.

The second part of the entertainment consisted of a reading, accompanied by tableaux. Mr. Arthur Power took the part of a man of travels, who sat in his den reflecting and recalling the various types of girls he had met in his trip around the world. As he called each to mind they appeared in reality before him, in the typical costumes of their land. They were portrayed as follows: Hawaiian, Clara Brown; Japanese, Adeline Carr; Indian, Gladys Underwood; Dutch, Esther Greenland; Spanish, Jennie Thomas; Scotch, Agnes Frazier; Grecian, Lorinda Dawley; Turkish, Elgita Simpson; German, Dora Woods; French, Edith Burgess; Egyptian, Elsie Watson; English, Alice Baumgarten; Irish, Saibe Watson; Indian, Sadie Lake; American, Allee Lord. Each girl was greeted with applause on her appearance, and there was more, which continued for some time, after the curtain finally dropped.

Dancing followed for the remainder of the evening. A sale of cake, candy and lemonade was also held during the intermission.

The entertainment was under the management of Miss Ella Peckham, Mrs. James E. Anthony and Miss Mary Power.

"R'S" AWARDED.

Rogers High School Players in Different Teams to Have Distinguishing Letters.

At a meeting of the Rogers High School Athletic Association this afternoon Manager Curry read his financial account of the basketball season, which was accepted. The expenditures were $206.21 and the receipts $239.55, leaving a balance of $33.34. Treasurer Moar presented "R's" to the following: Manager Curry, Assistant Manager Ward, Arnold, Knox, Oxx, Underwood, Anthony, Freeman, Martin.

Manager Rowa read the report for the hockey season. The expenditures were $6.75, and the receipts $9.75. The report was accepted.

It was voted to distinguish between the "R's" awarded in the various sports—to have a monogram for football, an old English letter for basketball, and a blocked letter for base ball. It was also voted to award class numerals to those who play in one winning game.

ARRESTED IN WASHINGTON.

Richard J. Cochain who claims to represent the Weiss Tobacco Company of this city, has been arrested and sent to the Washington Asylum Hospital for observation. He opened an elaborate office agency in that city about 10 days ago, and the police became interested in his general deportment, demeanor and alleged visionary business ideas. Mr. Sigmund Weiss, head of the London Pipe Shop, says that Cochain, well recommended, came to him about two weeks ago and was fitted out with a line of samples, with which he started for Washington as a salesman. It appears to have been the idea when he left Newport that his office was in his sample case, and the "elaborate office" in Washington was not anticipated. He was to sell on commission, so that his acting is rather a personal affair.

72-HOUR ORDER FAVORED.

Establishment of a Permanent Demurrage Bureau Approved.

BOSTON, April 28.—The establishment of a permanent demurrage bureau received the approval today of a large number of New England shippers, at a hearing on the 48-hour demurrage order held by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane. The hearing was called principally to discuss the 48-hour order and the working of the experimental 48-hour. The shippers who were heard at the forenoon session today were in favor of continuing the 72-hour order, if possible, especially in cases where weather and lumbering made it difficult to clear the yards. The 48-hour demurrage order was issued by the commission a year ago at the suggestion of the National Association of Railroad Commissioners, who desired a uniform law.

FURTHER HEARING TO BE GIVEN.

Tilden, Benedict and Cummins Granted Habeas Corpus Writ.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Judge Petit in the superior court today granted a writ of habeas corpus for Edward Tilden, George M. Benedict and W. C. Cummings, within a half hour after they had been arrested by the assistant sergeant at arms of the Illinois senate. Assistant Sergeant at Arms R. H. Hatfield bore warrants charging contempt of the Illinois senate for the refusal of the three to obey subpoenas duces tecum, calling for their appearance with those books and accounts of the Drovers Deposit National Bank and the Drovers Trust and Savings Bank, relating to the accounts of Edward Tilden.

Mr. Tilden was mentioned in the testimony of Clarence Funk of the International Harvester Company as the man to whom he was invited to send a subscription for the alleged purpose of aiding in the election of United States Senator William Lorimer. The three surrendered themselves today accompanied by their counsel, Nathaniel C. Sears. They repaired at once to the court room where the writ was issued, returnable forthwith. Among other things, the suspicions were attached to the grounds that they were not supported by an oath or affirmation, and were not signed by the president of the senate. Judge Petit set Monday as the date for hearing the petition and fixed the bonds of the three defendants at $5,000 each.

A STUBBORN BLAZE.

Fire Occurs at Fort Hill Storage Warehouse Company's Building, Boston.

BOSTON, April 28.—Tar, pitch and other inflammable substances furnished fuel for a threatening fire that broke out today in the basement of the seven-story building of the Fort Hill Storage Warehouse Company, at 90 Purchase street. The basement and first floor were occupied by Chandler, Farquhar & Co., dealers in roofing supplies, and the flames spread to some of the upper floors. The loss is estimated at about $30,000. Hodgdon Brothers, brass and metal workers, suffered considerable damage from water. The blaze was of the most stubborn kind, and the firemen had a hard fight before bringing it under control. The vicinity of the burning building was hurled under a cloud of thick, heavy smoke, and two or three firemen were temporarily incapacitated by the choking fumes.

MONOPOLY IN ARMY SHOES.

Boston Firm Accused of Controlling Manufacture and Freezing Out Competitors.

A sensation was caused in the House Thursday, when Representative Gardner of Massachusetts introduced resolutions of inquiry in response to a charge by Representative Difendorfer of Pennsylvania that money and influence were being used to give to an eastern manufacturing concern a monopoly in the contracts for shoes for the army and the navy. Mr. Difendorfer said he could prove his assertions and as a result Mr. Gardner called upon the Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy for all possible information concerning the shoe contracts.

Mr. Difendorfer charged that Hermann & Co. of Boston absolutely control the manufacture of shoes for the army and navy of the United States. "I shall be at liberty in the near future," Mr. Difendorfer said further, "to show that they have frozen out competitors that I know of who have lost out, and today are bankrupt owing to the fact that this firm of Hermann & Co. have used their influence with the government representatives of the United States or those in control of the government of the United States have used their influence to freeze out competitors and have placed them on the black list, so to speak, and have even gone so far as to give money so that other firms may not be competitors after freezing them out."

Mr. Gardner said the statement was an impeachment of the government authorities, and introduced his resolution, which was referred to the committee on military and naval affairs.

SOME REPUBLICANS THERE.

[Lippincott's.]

After the big Andrew Jackson Day banquet in Baltimore, a prominent Republican thus greeted an equally well-known Democrat:

"I understand there were some Republicans at the banquet last night."

"Oh, yes," said the Democrat genially. "One waited on me."

—Captain G. E. Sage, U. S. A. (retired), and Mrs. Sage have closed their season at Washington and will shortly be at their home on Washington street.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews, Jr., are in Paterson, N. J., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Andrew's brother-in-law, Mr. Charles McMurray, who [illegible] week.

—Aquidneck Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, is arranging for a barn dance, Mr. Frederick Lawton having placed his barn at the disposal of the members.

—The police report this morning was very brief. The police had three lads in for a talking, and the judge told them things about what they had done and should do. There was no charge.

—The soldiers at Fort Adams had a field day at that post Wednesday. Nothing was known about it until late Tuesday afternoon, and the competitions were confined to running and jumping.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Beeckman are closing their Providence house and will leave Sunday for Hot Springs, Va., where they will remain until they sail for Europe, May 10. They plan to arrive at "Land's End" about July 1, for the summer.

—Things are beginning to look like summer about Champlin's launch floats. The Julia S. is out of the repair shops in good condition, and this morning the big launch Twentieth Century came out of the paint shop, looking fit and ship-shape.

—Thursday night was the first which gave the searchlight practice a chance at the forts, and advantage was taken by those handling the searchlights for a good hour. This is the third week for such work, but it was the first clear night when the lights could be used.

—Messrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt and Elisha Dyer and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wadsworth, Jr., are among those due to arrive in New York today on the Mauretania. They will be met by Mrs. John Hay and will be guests for a few days of Mrs. Hay's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney.

—Captain Soderman has his sloop yacht Rahnee hauled out at the shipyard. At Williams & Manchester's Mr. Savery's sloop Taboo is being prepared for the season and Mr. Buenzle's sloop Molly B. has blossomed out in a new color of underbody, black, which will make her conspicuous this season. At the shipyard Captain Rost is preparing his launch Anona for the water.

—All the topmasts of the city flag-poles are on end, with the exception of that on Washington square, which is at the shipyard. When the old topmast was taken in last fall it was proposed to plane it off some, so that it could be dropped easier, and it was found that it had so rotted about half-way up that it was lucky it was taken down. A new one, 10 feet long, has been made during the winter and will shortly be hoisted in place.

—The Women's Association of the Second Baptist Church held a sale and entertainment in the Young Men's Christian Association hall Thursday evening. Supper was served and the tables were well provided with wares. The entertainment comprised a series of tableaux, representing different advertisements and illustrations in magazines, arranged by Mrs. George W. Quick. The evening was a success financially and as a means of providing a pleasant evening.

—Senator Wetmore has presented to Congress the petition of Gaspee Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of Providence, for the ratification of the treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. The document was referred to the committee on foreign affairs. Senator Wetmore has also introduced a bill granting an increased pension to Sarah McCann of Providence, widow of Francis McCann, late of the Fourth Rhode Island volunteer infantry.

ROOSEVELT MEN LOSE PLACES.

Shifting Process Gradual, But is Going On All the Time.

Different Brands of Reciprocity Brought Out by Discussion of the Canadian Bill.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, April 27.—As changes are made in the diplomatic service and in other federal appointments it is noticed that many of the more pronounced Roosevelt men are finding themselves in private life and that the shifting process seems to land the out-and-out Taft men in the best positions. These changes are made gradually, but they are going on all the time, and it would not be strange to see the entire elimination of the Roosevelt crowd before the next Presidential campaign begins in real earnest.

There can be no complaint on this score. Roosevelt tried to keep the McKinley men, but he learned that it was necessary to find places for his own friends, and gradually in the seven and one-half years he was President nearly every McKinley man gave place to a Roosevelt man.

Discussion of the Canadian reciprocity bill has brought out many different brands of reciprocity. There is the Blaine patent, which can be twisted to meet almost anything any one wants so it does not interfere with the tariff.

Then there is the McKinley brand, a nebulous sort of kind, which no one can explain because the lamented President never undertook to explain it himself. But his followers say that it was reciprocity in non-competitive products. Then there is a Roosevelt brand of reciprocity which was exemplified in the 20 per cent reduction on Cuban sugar which is said to have been largely for the benefit of the sugar trust.

While the Democrats are responsible for putting through the Canadian reciprocity, it is doubtful if they will claim it, and it will continue to bear the Taft brand. One thing about it however, it is the only real effective reciprocity in the sense of reducing the cost of products to consumers.

It was Congressman Howland of Ohio who went boldly forth proclaiming reciprocity as a Republican doctrine. Turning to his Republican colleagues, he said: "You would think to hear the discussion in this chamber that reciprocity was a heresy. Why, we used to hear gentlemen talk glibly about reciprocity as the handmaiden of protection, but what has happened to that handmaiden of protection at the hands of standpatters in this debate is simply awful."

"This is another girl," interrupted Hamilton of Michigan.

"That was a good speech you made on Canadian reciprocity," a friend said to Asher Hinds.

"That remains to be seen," replied the Maine Congressman. "If it reelects me it is a good speech, but if it doesn't then it is no good."

Hinds spoke vigorously against reciprocity, but he did not please everybody in his district. There are many people in Portland who are not interested in higher prices for farm products and who would be very glad to get cheaper foodstuffs from Canada.

After all, the only great dividing line is that of Mason and Dixon. Everything in the debate thus far shows that men North and South differ on the tariff just in proportion to the effect upon the local interests they represent, and both Democrats and Republicans are found on either side of the protection and tariff for revenue lines.

But you can always find a line of demarcation when anything arises which has a sectional appearance. This was shown in the debate on the resolution for election of Senators by direct vote and on the campaign publicity bill, and these measures brought out the Republicanism of the insurgents.

The tariff finds regulars and insurgents opposed to each other. Democrats in different sections and even in the same states cannot agree, but bring in something to remind Congress there was once a Mason and Dixon line and you will see a party division as distinct as it ever has been in the past.

Congressman Davis of Minnesota has re-introduced his bill having for its purpose the co-operation of the national and state governments in the establishment and conduct of agricultural schools. The bill is strongly endorsed by Assistant Secretary Hays of the Agricultural Department, who has prepared a great deal of data on the subject to show its benefits.

An interesting feature in connection with this bill is that it cost Davis his place on the agricultural committee of the House and helped to make him an insurgent. Davis was an ardent advocate of the bill. It smacked of paternalism which Uncle Joe would not accept, and he removed Davis.

LAST DAY OF CONVENTION.

Needs for Prayer Book Revision Topic Taken Up at Church Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Needs for Prayer Book revision to meet present day conditions was the topic of the twenty-ninth Church Congress in the United States today. On the program for papers were Rev. George W. Douglas, canon of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, and Rev. Henry R. Gummey, rector of Grace Church, Haddonfield, N. J., while the speakers were Rev. Percy S. Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, New York, and Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, rector of St. George's Church, Kansas City, Mo. This afternoon's session ends the convention. The place of meditation in the development of Christian character is then to be discussed.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I wish to let you know of a couple of recent cures I have made by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. Last August, Mr. —— came to my office, troubled with a severe skin eruption. It was dermatitis in its worst form. It would affect most parts of his body — thighs, elbows, chest, back and abdomen. The itching and burning was dreadful and he would almost tear his skin apart. I recommended all the treatments I could think of, but nothing seemed to help. In the meantime my wife, who was continually suffering with a slight skin trouble, told me she was going to get some of the Cuticura Remedies and give them a trial. I could do nothing to relieve her permanently. She applied the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few days she was completely cured. I lost no time in recommending the Cuticura Remedies to Mr. ——. I told him to wash with warm baths of the Cuticura Soap and to apply the Cuticura Ointment generously. From the very first day's use of the Cuticura Remedies he was greatly relieved and today he is completely cured through their use. I have great faith in the Cuticura Remedies now that I am convinced of their wonderful merits." (Signed) B. L. Whitehead, M. D., 108 Dartmouth St., Boston, Mass., July 22, '10.

No Chemicals for Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Neighbor—"Anty Drudge, I'm sure you must use chemicals in your wash. I've boiled my clothes and rubbed them till my fingers are blistered, but they look yellow beside yours."

Anty Drudge—"No, I didn't use chemicals, nor I didn't boil them nor rub them hard. I used Fels-Naptha in lukewarm water. Fels-Naptha took the dirt out of my clothes while you were rubbing dirt into yours. That makes the difference."

What soap will you use to wash clothes?

If you insist on weakening your clothes by boiling them, wearing them out by hard-rubbing, putting up with all the inconveniences of hot fires, nauseous steaming suds and yellow clothes, it doesn't matter which you use.

But if you want to do your washing comfortably, in cold or lukewarm water, without hard work and in half the time—then there is only one soap for you—and that soap is Fels-Naptha.

The reason why is in the different way Fels-Naptha is made. The results speak for themselves. Get Fels-Naptha from your grocer and try it. But be sure and use it the Fels-Naptha way—no hot water. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

GAS COMPANY INVESTIGATION.

...ces, but that does not affect the city ...don dug. The street commissioner de... since some room held for finishing the sea wall. Until that is done some other work cannot well be done.

It was felt that the weather would ...result of finishing the sea wall at once, and Alderman Shepley was appointed a committee to see the street commissioner about the use of this ...ump Friday, and the completion of the sea wall.

Mr. Mahoney, of the committee appointed to consult with the officials of the Newport Gas Light Company in regard to bids for interior lighting by gas and possible reduction in price to the citizens, had the report of the committee ready, in typewritten form. He asked if he should read it. Mayor Boyle said, judging by the length, he would prefer to have Alderman Mahoney read it to tackling the job himself, so Mr. Mahoney read the report of the committee, which is as follows:

To the Honorable Mayor and the Board of Aldermen:

Your committee appointed to confer with the Newport Gas Light Company relative to the price of gas to be charged to the city of Newport for the term of three years ensuing after the first day of May, 1911, and with reference to the obtaining of cheaper rates for gas supplied to the public, hereby submits the following report:

On April 17, 1911, a conference was held with Andrew K. Quinn, treasurer of the aforesaid company, at which the price and quality of gas supplied and the payment of a franchise tax to the city of Newport were severally considered.

Quality of Gas.

The quality of the gas supplied was first taken up. The committee acquainted Mr. Quinn with the fact that the complaint was general that the gas supplied was of inferior quality, that for lighting and illuminating purposes the gas was unsatisfactory and, unless enforced and aided by some modern mantle attachment, it did not meet the just demands of the people, and that it was the company's duty to supply gas of a nature sufficiently illuminating to obviate the necessity of using any mantles. Mr. Quinn did not controvert the position of the committee in this regard, but reiterated the statement that with the aid of mantles the gas produced was sufficient for lighting purposes and urged that all consumers of gas should employ the use of mantles in order to secure the desired lighting power. In the opinion of your committee this statement is an implied admission of the inferiority of the gas supplied by the aforesaid company and justifies any action, however, extreme, that this board might advise to secure from the Gas Company a supply sufficiently superior in lighting quality to meet the demands of the people without the aid of mantles of any kind.

Rates of Gas.

The price of the gas was next considered at the conference. In order to ascertain whether or not the rates charged were excessive your committee asked Mr. Quinn various questions. Realizing that the price charged was not fixed arbitrarily, but was based on the cost of production, etc., we requested the following information: What is the cost of manufacturing gas per thousand feet, meter measurement? What is the cost of distribution per thousand feet, meter measurement? At what amount do you estimate your depreciation per thousand feet? How much is your investment per thousand feet, and what per centum of interest do you consider a fair profit on your investment per thousand feet? Mr. Quinn absolutely declined to answer any of these questions, or to give to us any information of any kind on any of these subjects. This information is indispensable in order to determine whether or not the rates charged are reasonable or excessive and the community is helpless until disclosures are insisted upon by this municipality. The remedy must exist somewhere and some municipal committee must, under the law, be vested with the right and power of inquiry into these matters.

It is now generally conceded throughout the country that the highest average cost of manufacturing gas, including all operating expenses and taxes, does not exceed, per thousand feet, 40 cents; that the cost of distribution is about 20 cents; that the estimate of depreciation, per thousand feet, amounts to about 7 cents; and that the average investment, per thousand feet, is not above $4 in cities of about 25,000 population. Taking these figures as a basis, it is apparent that, in view of the cost of manufacture, the cost of distribution, the allowance for depreciation and a fair return—to wit, five per cent on the $4 investment per thousand feet—gas could be supplied in a city of this size at the rate of $1 cents per thousand feet, at the profit of five per centum on the investment; and in the absence of any information on the part of the aforesaid company, no reason can be assigned why the public is not entitled to gas at the rate of $1 per thousand feet, such rate allowing the said company an additional profit of 13 cents for every thousand feet supplied. Mr. Quinn pleaded that gas at the rate of $1 per thousand feet could be supplied only in the event of a curtailment in the operating expense and the adoption of a new system of economy not before practiced by the company, but at the same time intimated that something might be done in the reduction of rates in the course of a year. Under the principle of "the greatest good for the greatest number" your committee advised any curtailment that could be made, if as a result rates were reduced and the general public were thereby benefited.

A general statement of dividends by this Company, cash and stock, is food for thought and, if correctly stated, rendered inevitable the conclusion that lower rates can be granted the people without any reduction in operating expenses. In addition to the cash dividend of eight per cent annually paid by the aforesaid company for a number of years, a stock dividend of 52½ per centum was issued in August, 1905. This stock dividend was called a distribution or transfer of surplus capital over and above the capitalization allowed by law, and from one viewpoint can be considered an accumulation of profits exceeding 62½ per centum in excess of the capitalization allowed by law. In other words, a stockholder having 100 shares of stock of the Newport Gas Light Company, in addition to receiving his annual dividend of eight per centum, or $104, was presented with five additional shares in 1905, raising his total holding 13 shares. These stock dividends have been issued from time to time since 1887, which numbers that the buyer of 100 shares, in 1888 would now be in possession of 13 shares, or eight shares in addition to his original holding all drawing the present annual dividend of eight per centum.

These figures represent, according to the opinion of your committee, a net profit, the sole beneficiaries of

TWENTY DOGS IN ONE PLACE.

Constable Hallock's Unusual Find and Hard Experience at the Home of Miss Burt.

Dog Constable Hallock had a rather exciting experience Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Ella Burt on Elm street. He was notified that she had just died and the neighbors desired her dogs removed, and he removed them. He knew there were some dogs there, but he did not think there were so many as he found. By actual count there were 20 when he had stowed away the last one in his wagon. Incidentally he had a bad bite on his left hand, several bites on the legs and his trousers torn, one dog in particular seeming to be wild. It is probable that they were hungry, because they had not been cared for during several days, owing to the illness of their owner.

Twenty dogs may seem like running a kennel, but Miss Burt appeared to have a great liking for dogs and last year had nine licensed. The constable thought she had more than that number, but he could not tell; they seemed to be all about alike, and the best he could do was to have her take out nine licenses. There had been complaints about the dogs annoying the neighbors, but nothing came of this until the visit Thursday. Mr. Hallock thought he was up against the real thing when he went to the place and found how many dogs there were to tackle and the manner of his reception by them. Though somewhat disfigured, he is still on duty.

He had three other dogs picked up during the afternoon, for in these days, when licenses are being taken out, many stray dogs are given up by their owners, or those who have had them, rather than pay the license fee. Six or eight dogs is not an unusual day's gathering, but when it comes to 20 at one place the record is set up to a point where it is likely to stand for years. It is safe to say that the residents of that part of the city feel better about the dog question than they have for some time past.

CIRCULARS DO NOT PAY.

The New York Press has been gathering statistics regarding the cost and consequence of advertising by means of circulars and puts "Tip's" conclusions thus neatly:

In Greater New York there are more than 1,000,000 families. To put a circular into every one of them would cost, for one-cent postage alone, more than $10,000. Then, upon inquiry, Tip found that the paper, envelopes, labor of addressing, carting to the postoffice, etc., would cost about another $5,000. Fifteen thousand dollars for something that would not even be looked at by the public to whom it was addressed!

Tip got so interested in his investigation of circular waste that he consulted the advertising manager of his paper for further facts, and then his eyes opened wide. The average circular, according to that expert, does not say as much as could be told in two and a half columns of a newspaper—about 300 lines. He told Tip an advertisement of that size placed in all the morning newspapers could be put before every New York family reading English newspapers—about 1,000,000 a day—for some $600. Tip couldn't believe there was such a difference, but the advertising manager worked it out for him in black and white with the various newspapers and their rates. So newspaper publicity, as to direct cost alone, is the cheapest there is by many, many times.

Cabot's Sulpho-Napthol

What is more, this efficient "Liquid Cleanliness" accomplishes its mission at a minimum cost.

To be sure it has imitators. All good things have. Some substitutes can be bought for half the price; admitting this fact and admitting also that they may have some virtue, even under these conditions they are more expensive in the end than the genuine.

With Cabot's Sulpho-Napthol it is necessary to use only one-tenth the quantity that manufacturers of substitutes recommend necessary for their products in order to obtain results.

Therefore when you buy the original you are getting the genuine and besides that it only costs one-fifth as much in the end as doubtful imitations. Any reliable dealer will endorse these statements.

Sold only in yellow packages by druggists and grocers. 10c., 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.00. Beware of imitations.

GAS COMPANY INVESTIGATION.

which have been the stockholders and not the people generally. The issuance of these stock dividends or divisions of accumulated capital, enabling a holder to increase his principal investment one and three fifths times in 25 years without an additional output on his part, together with his annual receipt of a dividend, makes obvious to your committee the fact that the Gas Company supplies gas to the people of Newport at a large profit and gives birth to the opinion that the rates are capable of reduction to the extent that the people generally would be materially benefited, the accumulation of surplus capital obviated and the Gas Company allowed to conduct their business at a fair profit. The people who own and grant these franchises and privileges to public service corporations are entitled to reasonable rates and the figures above, if correctly quoted, have a tendency to prove that an immediate reduction can be made safely by the Gas Company in the rates chargable to the general public.

Franchise Tax.

Relative to the payment of a franchise tax, your committee realized that under chapter 91 of the General Laws such a tax is possible only where an exclusive franchise is granted by contract or ordinance. A hasty search of the records in the City Hall reveals the fact that the Newport Gas Light Company was chartered by the state legislature on or about 1853 and in the same year was granted by the City Council of Newport an exclusive franchise for the term of 20 years, or until 1873. Your committee has been unable to find any subsequent action on the part of the City Council authorizing a continuance of business by the Newport Gas Light Company. Your committee therefore considers it advisable for this board to refer to the city solicitor the matter of ascertaining from the records the present legal status of the aforesaid company, relative to the carrying on of business in this city.

All public service corporations should be subjected to the same liabilities. There is no logical reason that can be advanced in favor of exempting one public service corporation from the payment of a franchise tax and insisting on its payment by another corporation of like nature. If no exclusive franchise agreement exists between the aforesaid company and the city of Newport, although said company enjoys the right at present, it is clearly the duty of the board to arrange for the execution of such an agreement, to the end that the city of Newport can impose a franchise tax and take advantage of the provisions provided by statute.

In view of the foregoing facts your committee hereby recommends that the city solicitor be instructed, first, to ascertain the legal status of the Newport Gas Light Company relative to their right to carry on business in said city; second, whether the city of Newport can insist on the execution of an exclusive franchise agreement with the aforesaid company; and lastly what powers are vested in the Board of Aldermen relative to an investigation and an insistence on the production of better gas and cheaper rates to the public.

The bill of the Newport Gas Light Company for interior lighting of our public buildings only is hereto annexed and provides for the furnishing of gas to said city at the old rate of $1.10 per thousand feet, for the term of one year; and your committee recommends that a contract for one year only at the rate specified be made with said company.

J. P. Mahoney.
M. P. Kelley.

The report was received.

Mr. Mahoney had a bill from Mr. Quinn for gas for interior lighting at the same rate as at present, $1.10 per thousand feet. He moved that the contract for interior lighting gas be awarded to the Newport Gas Light Company for one year at that price, and it was so voted.

He then presented the following resolution, to carry out the recommendation of the report:

Resolved, That the city solicitor be and hereby is instructed to ascertain the legal status of the Newport Gas Light Company relative to their right to carry on business in said city of Newport.

Second, whether the city of Newport can insist on the execution of an exclusive franchise agreement with the aforesaid company, and lastly, what powers are vested in the Board of Aldermen relative to an investigation and insistence on the production of better gas and cheaper rates to the public. The resolution was adopted without discussion and the board adjourned.

PORTSMOUTH.

Ladies' Association of St. Paul's Church Holds Annual Meeting Followed by Supper.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The Ladies' Association of St. Paul's Church met at the guild house Thursday afternoon and evening and held the annual meeting, the president, Miss Hattie G. Anthony, presiding. The secretary, Miss Abbie Anthony, read the report of the Association for the year which ended at Easter, giving the number of meetings held as 22. The treasurer, Miss Fannie Hicks, gave her report, the result of the year's work being satisfactory.

Four letters were read—one from Mrs Winslow Upton, one of thanks from the St. Elizabeth Home for donations of bedding; one from Mrs. Joseph W. Greene, resigning her office on account of her removal to Newport, bidding an affectionate farewell to the members of the association and expressing her loyalty and love for St. Paul's church. Before her health failed she had been on the flower committee and work committee and had given much labor and time to make them efficient. She will serve next week for the Nina Lourie home, Newport. Individual offerings of $10.50 have been given to the "united offering."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Hattie G. Anthony; vice president, Miss Grace Hicks; secretary, Miss Abbie Anthony; treasurer, Miss Fanny Hicks; directors, Miss Grace Hicks, chairman, Mrs. Benjamin G. Sherman; Mrs. Charles L. Freeborn; fancy work committee, Mrs. John M. Eldridge, Miss Cora Mitchell, Mrs. George L. Anthony, Mrs. J. Sturgis Pearce.

It was voted to hold the annual lawn party July 19.

A supper of stuffed eggs in individual beds of lettuce with salad dressing, tongue, rolls, cake and coffee was served to 26 persons by the supper committee—Mrs. William B. Clarke, Mrs. Benjamin S. Anthony and Mrs. Hannah Sisson.

The Rhode Island Monthly Meeting of the Society of Friends met at the Friends' Church Thursday morning with a fair attendance, not quite so many as usual being present from Newport, but a number from Tiverton and Rev. Samuel H. Hodges and wife from Barrington. Rev. Mr. Hodges was the preacher of the morning, that service being followed by the regular business session, which was quite long. Rev. John S. Kinnier and wife of Newport were present.

Mr. Frederick Lawton, who started Monday on fishing steamer Enterprise for his season's work, met with an accident Wednesday which obliged him to return home from New London. One of his legs was badly scalded by escaping steam, giving him a great deal of pain.

The Sunshine Society, which met with Mrs. Arthur L. Sherman Thursday afternoon, is working busily on articles for a sale to be held in a few weeks.

Mrs. James F. Marden of Providence has been guest of her brother-in-law, Mr. Gardner T. Sherman, and family, and Mr. Benjamin B. White and family, going from this town to Newport to visit relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sherman Stepp (Miss Margaret Nolan of Newport), who were married Wednesday, spent Thursday with Mrs. George S. Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Malone, who were married Monday, will make their home on the East Main road at the head of Park avenue, in the house belonging to Mr. Charles Isherwood, known as the Peckham house.

Mr. John F. Chase who has been in poor health more than a year, but so that he could go out and occasionally ride on the electric cars, is now so feeble that he is confined to bed.

Mrs. Abner P. Lawton entertained a family party Wednesday, comprising her daughters, Mrs. Frederick A. Coggeshall and Mrs. William F. Grinnell; her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frederick Lawton, and child, and her sisters, Mrs. Elbert A. Sisson, Mrs. H. Frank Anthony and Mrs. Clarence A. Carr of Newport.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church met Thursday. There was a good attendance and supper was served.

The cottage belonging to Mr. Benjamin Hall, on the East Main road, opposite Eureka hall, recently vacated by Mr. Pardon Gray and family, has been leased again and Mr. Hall is putting it in order for its new occupants.

Mr. James S. Martin and Miss Jessie Dixon were married at St. Paul's rectory Wednesday evening by Rev. J. Sturgis Pearce. The bride wore a gray broadcloth suit trimmed with gray silk and silk braid and a hat trimmed with pink silk and pink roses. They began housekeeping at once at their future home near the Melville postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walker, Miss Ruth Anthony and Mr. Albert S. Walker from this town attended the anniversary social given by the Newport Odd Fellows.

THE NEW STREET LIGHTS.

Not So Much Money for the Gas Company in the Incandescent Type, But a Much Better Service.

The new contract for gas lights on the streets provides for all the lamps to be of the Cleveland incandescent type. This was already provided for by the Council in changing the few remaining open gas lights to incandescent, as recommended by the aldermen. When the contract expiring May 1 was made Mayor Boyle expressed regret that the Council had not provided the slight additional expense involved in making all the gas lights of the incandescent style, and since then practically all have been changed to that type, only a comparatively few remaining until this year, when they too were changed. The cost is about half a cent per night more than the open gas lights, and there is no comparison of the illuminating qualities; one is a light, the other is not.

The Gas Company, which supplies the gas, does not receive so much money for the present style of lamp as it did for the old form, as it burns only six tenths as much gas, using three-foot as against five foot burners. It is fair to presume that the Cleveland Vapor Light Company does not pay the Gas Company any more per thousand feet than did the city for gas for the street lights, so that the change means less money for the Gas Company, but the latter is apparently satisfied to see the lights changed. Every one else who has occasion to depend on the gas street lights is satisfied.

Some may suggest that the Gas Company could furnish this style of light as well as have a concern from out of town do it, and perhaps this is so. The contractor stated in a letter accompanying the bid that it was proposed to improve the candle power of the lights.

SERIOUS OUTBREAK OCCURS IN CANTON.

Trouble Due to Arrest of a Revolutionary Leader.

Citizens, Alarmed at the Situation, Flee to Hong Kong.

HONG KONG, China, April 28.—Only official messages are being received today from Canton, where a revolutionary outbreak occurred last night. These are of a disquieting character. The revolutionists have obtained a quantity of explosives and the government has asked the steamship companies plying to that city to suspend their service, lest arms be smuggled into the disturbers, who are still at large. Many of the leaders have been imprisoned.

The fighting between the troops and the rioters last night began when the soldiers arrested a revolutionary leader. His followers who, carrying revolvers and wearing badges, boldly proclaimed their purpose, surrounded the viceroy's palace and after setting it on fire interfered with the efforts of others to extinguish the flames. The revolutionaries were armed with rifles and bombs and fought desperately. Several were killed and many arrested. The troops were commanded by Admiral Li and they suffered considerably, a colonel being among those wounded. The soldiers finally got control of the situation and energetic measures to prevent another outbreak were taken. The gates of the city were closed and a search made in suspected quarters for arms and ammunition. The fire at the palace burned for two hours, doing great damage. The viceroy escaped harm. A strict censorship has been established and only official exchanges between Hong Kong and Canton are possible.

Thousands of residents of Canton are fleeing to this city. Those who have arrived say that anarchy is rife among the soldiers at Canton, and the officers do not trust their men. Many of the troops completed their service today and these men are particularly feared. Anarchists have been furthering their propaganda in the army, where there was already much discontent owing to the recent suppression of gambling. The British consul at Canton has reported to the governor of Hong Kong that the situation is serious.

The first steamer to arrive from the scene of the rioting at Canton brought 100 refugees, mostly women, here this evening. These witnesses say the fighting was severe while it lasted, and over 400 casualities were reported among the queueless, as the revolutionists have been nicknamed.

The commander-in-chief has appointed Americus Whedon past department commander of Kentucky, to fill the vacancy in the committee on pensions, while Comrade J. Payson Bradley has been appointed senior aide and chief of staff, both positions having been vacated through the death of Colonel William M. Olin of Boston.

TREATY PROMISES TO MARK NEW ERA.

Londoners Receive Resolution with Great Applause.

Measure Would Mean Alliance Between Great Britain and This Country.

LONDON, April 28.—What Premier Asquith described as "this venerable Guild Hall," without whose seal of approval no popular movement in London is really launched, witnessed today a meeting for the adoption of resolutions pledging the city to the support of Anglo-American complete arbitration. The Lord Mayor of London, in his scarlet robe and with the mace in front of him, held the centre of a temporary stage. On his right was the prime minister, at his left former Premier Balfour, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, while massed about the mayor were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Archbishop of Westminster, Lord Loreburn, the lord high chancellor; Lord Strathcona, high commissioner of Canada; Sir Joseph G. Ward, premier of New Zealand, and other notables. Over their heads the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes were entwined.

Mr. Asquith and Mr. Balfour spoke eloquently of the treaty first proposed by President Taft, declaring that it would mark a new era in civilization, but both pointedly disclaimed that a peace pact between Great Britain and the United States, providing for the submission of all differences to arbitration, would mean an alliance between the two countries. Mr. Balfour warned his hearers, than whom he said none in the world felt more burden of preparing for war, that the treaty would not mean the immediate reduction of armaments. The meeting represented the democracy of England rather than the aristocracy. Others on the platform were the Bishop of Hereford, the Earl of Aberdeen, lord lieutenant of Ireland, Sir George H. Reid, high commissioner of Australia, and agents of all the other British colonies, along with representatives of the banks, the railways, and the steamship companies of England.

Premier Asquith said in part: "The unique situation which we have met to recognize and welcome has not been organized or engineered by the apparatus of diplomacy. The seed which the President of the United States cast fell on ground prepared to receive it. That which a few years ago, even a few months ago, might have been regarded as the dream of idealists, has not only passed into the domain of practical statesmanship, but has become the settled purpose of two great democracies. The profound significance of the new departure is that, between Great Britain and the United States, whatever the gravity of the issue and the magnitude of the interests involved, whatever the pregnancy of the feelings it arouses, there will be a definite abandonment of war as a possible solution and the substitution of argument for force, and the supersession by judicial methods of the old ordeal of battle."

After declaring that the proposition implied no menace to the rest of mankind and did not provide for an Anglo-American alliance aggressive or defensive, the premier continued: "But we may hope and believe that other things will follow. It is not for us to dictate or to preach to other nations, but if the United States and Great Britain renounce war, a step will be taken of immeasurable and incomparable significance in the onward progress of humanity."

Mr. Asquith then moved the following resolution: "That this meeting of citizens of London assembled in the Guild Hall cordially welcomes the proposal of the United States in favor of a general treaty of arbitration between that country and the British empire, and pledges its support to the principles of such a treaty as serving the highest interests of the two nations, and as tending to promote the peace of the world." The resolution was received with tremendous applause, which continued until Mr. Balfour rose to second it.

The opposition leader said that Anglo-American arbitration seemed nearer fruition at this moment than ever before in history. Some regarded it as an idealistic dream and believed that when the clash of conflicting interests came all paper barriers would be swept away, he said, and continued: "It is true that it is folly to make international laws so far in advance of public opinion. I cannot imagine a greater blow to civilization than if, or, I will rather say, when such a treaty was made either party should break it, but as far as I can read opinion on both sides of the Atlantic I cannot endorse these pessimistic views. I believe the great mass of public opinion on both sides favors this move. If the skill of diplomats can embody this feeling in a treaty, I do not believe that when the stress of international difficulties come, it will be broken. Some ask if public opinion is thus, why a treaty is necessary. I do not believe that these logical dilemmas represent what actually happens. I grant that paper formulae are useless in themselves, but if they represent the settled convictions of the people they are valuable."

International agreements with no more power of enforcement had made warfare more civilized than in the past, the speaker said, and asked why they could not make war impossible. Mr. Balfour added that he was most optimistic regarding the prospects of the treaty, but he warned his hearers that they should not mix up the question of the morality of war, and the methods of avoiding it, with the question of reducing the burdens of armament. England would have as great responsibilities in all parts of the world, which the treaty between English speaking peoples could not lessen, but the determination of these communities in joining to set an example to the world at large not only would make for certain peace between them but would mark a significance epoch in the progress of civilization.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Archbishop of Westminster, Chief Rabbi Adler of the united Hebrew congregations of the British empire, and Rev. Frederick Brotherton Meyer, minister of Regent Harkchapel, who spoke for the free churches, seconded the resolution. Premier Ward of New Zealand who spoke briefly for the colonies, received an enthusiastic reception. Lord Avebury, lord rector of St. Andrew's University and Lord Rothschild, who were unable to be present, telegraphed their regrets.

CORN GROWING CONTEST.

Long List of Prizes Offered in the Competition Among the Boys of Rhode Island.

The details of the corn-growing contest arranged by the State College, Board of grienture, State Horticultural Society, and other organizations and business firms, have now been worked out. The following is a brief list of the promiums offered: Prizes amounting to $10 for the best 10 ears Rhode Island White Cap corn, $10 for the best 10 ears Yellow Flint, $10 for the best 10 ears Yellow Dent, $10 for the best 10 ears sweet corn $10 for the best 10 ears sweet corn, $10 for the best 10 ears popcorn, $5 for the best single ear Rhode Island White Cap corn, $5 for the best single ear Yellow Flint, $5 for the best single ear Yellow Dent, $5 for the best single ear sweet corn, $5 for the best single ear popcorn, $10 for the best 10 stalks with ears attached, $25 for the best 10 ears any type; $10 for the best single ear, any type; $5 for the best design made with cob and kernels, $25 for the best exhibit from a school, $10 for the best essay on how corn was grown, $25 for corn judging. In addition to the above, there will be classes for boys under 14 years of age, and a number of special premiums amounting to over $100 to be awarded for exhibits grown with certain kinds of fertilizers.

The average yield for corn per acre in Rhode Island for the past 10 years has been less than 34 bushels per acre. By planting good seed in well This has been done by the boys in prepared soil, it should be easy to increase this from two to four times. This has been done by the boys in other states. Prizes are offered for the best single ear, and a city boy may plant only a few hills of corn and raise the best ear in the exhibit. Some prize corn was grown last year in a city backyard.

City schools are entering the contests and will send in an exhibit in the name of the school. One variety of corn will be planted. This will enable the school to enter in the following classes:

Best 10 ears, best single ear, best stalks with ears, design made with kernels, the essay competition, and the corn judging contest.

Teachers may make use of this work in the school by correlating some of the problems in arithmetic, language and geography with the growing of corn. The contest promises to be full of interest, from an economic and an educational standpoint.

TWO TITIAN PORTRAITS.

Two important portraits by Titian, of Philip II of Spain, and Francis I of France, have just been purchased in Germany by a firm of London picture dealers. This announcement, says the London Times will be received with consternation in Germany, particularly when it is stated that for a quarter of a century or more it has been thought that one of these pictures at least, would find a permanent home in the Kaiser-Friedrich Museum.

Both portraits had been for time out of mind in the Giustiniani residence at Padua, until they were purchased on the advice of Dr. Bode 30 years ago by Franz von Lenbach, the distinguished portrait palater, of Munich, from whose window they now have been bought for about £60,000.

The portrait of Philip II is said to be of the highest artistic and historic importance. It is the original sketch for which Philip sat in 1550, and the patent of various other portraits for which he did sit.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, April 28, Wall Street.—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper, ex. div., 62½, Atchison, Topeka & Santa, ex. div. 107¾, Canadian Pacific 229, Erie 30½, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 52½, Missouri Pacific 47¾, Missouri, Kansas & Texas 32½, Northern Pacific 122½, Pennsylvania 124½, Reading 152¾, Southern Pacific 114, Union Pacific 175¼, United States Steel 73⅝.

10—Canadian Pacific advanced 13 to 229½, the highest point in its history, when the market opened today. Otherwise there were few changes of importance. The market was firm, most of the active stocks advancing by small fractions.

11—Fractional additions were made to the opening advances in the principal stocks aside from Canadian Pacific, which rose 1 point on profit taking. A few of the specialties moved rather widely, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric rising 2 points and Interborough Metropolitan preferred 1, International Paper preferred and Ailis Chalmers preferred lost 1.

Noon—Compared with yesterday's early session business on the Exchange this morning was small. The undertone was more firm, however, and there seemed to be indications of accumulation of the better class stocks by substantial interests. The new high record of Canadian Pacific made it the most talked of issue, and there was further buying of the stock for Canadian account. Reading was affected favorably by its March report, which, while not brilliant, served as an offset to other statements recently issued. United States Steel was in demand, resuming its leadership and touching its high quotation of the week. From the investors' view point the most interesting feature was its sustained inquiry for bonds, which were traded in extensively and at higher prices. Quite a number of substantial gains were established. Prime mercantile paper 3½ to 4 per cent. Exchanges $281,005,257; balances $12,211,618.

MRS. BENJAMIN J. TILLEY.

To the Editor of The News:

In the death of Mrs. Benjamin J. Tilley there passed away a woman of most lovable character and pleasing disposition. Her life was a daily inspiration to all who came in contact with her, to hold fast their faith in an all-loving saviour, and be submissive to his will. No words of rebellion or murmurs of grief passed her lips—only constant prayer to meet God's will. For her beautiful example we are grateful and feel what she has done and been will at least be an inspiration to those who are left, as well as a consolation.

"Fold her, O Saviour,
In thine arms."

And may she always be a messenger of love between our lonely hearts and Thee.

SALE OF THE WILSON PROPERTY ON OLD BEACH ROAD.

A. O'D. Taylor Est. sold, for Joel Peckham and Mary E. Peckham of Middletown, the estate consisting of a large dwelling-house and land on the northerly side of Old Beach road, near the junction of Greenough place. This property was for many years known as the Marcy G. Wilson boarding-house, and after the death of Mrs. Wilson several years ago it became the property of the present owners who have rented it to Miss Boker for a private boardinghouse. It is understood that she will still continue as tenant for the new purchaser, also is Miss Elizabeth H. Clark of Cambridge, Mass. and is a cottage owner in Jamestown. The estate is bounded northerly on lands of Julia B. Potter, easterly on land of Robert G. Hone, southerly on Old Beach road and westerly on lands of Lueyy Hayward and Mary E. O'Hara, and contains 19,903 square feet of land.

WOMEN TO BE ADMITTED.

Favorable Action by Ocean Lodge, United Workmen, on Occasion of Official Visit.

Ocean Lodge, No. 7, Ancient Order of United Workmen, received a flying visit Thursday evening from Grand Master Charles F. May and Recorder J. Irving Davis of Providence. The visitors were unable to remain over night, but expect to make another visit here later, when a more extended account of the progress of the order will be given. They rendered an interesting report of the work in the different parts of the state, showing that it is unusually active at present. As a result of the visit a vote to admit women and social members into the order was taken. This is being done by the lodges in other parts of the state.

Before the departure of the grand officers a collation was served, after which there was time for a short social session.

DISTRICT COURT MATTERS.

In the district court this morning business was light. The criminal docket contained nothing for trial. Building inspector Sullivan was present in connection with a complaint against Mrs. Mary A. Cappuccilli, which has been pending for some weeks, and asked that the case be set for trial next Friday. Mr. Levy appeared in behalf of Mrs. Cappuccilli.

A new case against Frank Littlefield of Block Island, who already has trouble on his hands, appeared, being an action in the nature of assumpsit, brought by John R. Lewis, who has attached some of the Littlefield property on the island. The ad damnum named is $500. Nothing more is divulged in the papers in the case.

LOCAL BASE BALL.

At the Basin lot Thursday afternoon the St. Joseph's base ball team defeated the Young Men's Christian Association boys by a score of 14 to 8. McManus excelled for St. Joseph's and Springler for the Association. Up to the seventh inning the playing was about even; from then on the Association boys seemed to go to pieces and runs came easy and often for St. Joseph's. The same teams will play again Saturday afternoon.

A group of Young Men's Christian Association Seniors who are interested in the organization of a base ball nine to represent the class met Physical Director Slocum Thursday evening and formulated some plans. They have arranged for their first game Saturday afternoon with the sailors at the Training Station, at which time it is expected to have considerable material on hand from which Mr. Slocum will select the team.

GAS COMPANY INVESTIGATION.

Aldermen Order Inquiry Into Legal Status, Rights of City and Lower Rates.

Street and Interior Lighting Contracts Awarded and Bid for Bonds Accepted.

Things happened at the weekly meeting of the Board of Aldermen Thursday evening. It was expected, after what had been said at the meeting some weeks ago, when the matter of street and interior lighting came up and it was decided not to advertise for what the Newport Gas Light Company to sell, but to appoint a committee to see the officials of the company as to what could be done about reduced rates for the city and the citizens that something would happen, and it did. The special committee appointed to consult with the Gas Company officials made its report, which is printed in full and speaks for itself. A renewal of contract for three years was made with the present contractors, the Cleveland Vapor Light Company, for incandescent street lights for three years, at seven cents per night per light. This is the same price paid before. Various other matters were attended to. Mayor Boyle presided and all the members were present, together with several outsiders.

The weekly pay rolls were approved for the following amounts: Streets and highways, $1,908.13; police, $801.51; fire department, $547.45; city officers, $235.94; firemen in theatres, $10.

Monthly bills were approved as follows: Public school teachers, $10,483.14; police, $166.66; police relief, $307.98; city officers, $1,910.39; Rev. B. A. Liehter, $100; janitor of synagogue, $54.17.

Two bills from the Butler Florist Company, for $23.75 for care of the Coggeshall burial ground, and $16.25 for care of the Easton burial ground, were ordered paid. They should have been sent in last year.

Licenses were granted as follows: Casino theatre, for exhibition hall; Perry Athletic Club, for boxing; John Dontopolis, for eating house. One application, new, for a peddler's license, was laid on the table.

A petition signed by H. J. Knapp and about a dozen others was received. It called attention to the dangerous crossing at Church and Catherine streets, across Bellevue avenue, and suggested that the board take steps to abolish this by straightening the line of Church street so that it would coincide with the line of Catherine street, making a straight crossing. The matter was referred to a committee made up of Aldermen Shepley and Leddy.

On recommendation of the Board of Firewards substitute hosemen were promoted, as follows: Joseph Brown, No. 1; Thomas McHugh, No. 1; G. J. Kirwin, No. 7.

The Board of Firewards reported that it had received bids for supplying coal for the department for the year ending May 1, 1912, and recommended that the contract be awarded to D. J. Sullivan & Co., the lowest bidder. The bids, all for gross tons of 2,240 pounds, were as follows: Pinniger & Manchester Company, $7.28; Abram Almy Company, $7.18; Perry Coal Company, $7.20; George Bowen Heirs, $7.16; D. J. Sullivan & Co., $7.10. The contract was awarded to D. J. Sullivan & Co.

Bids were opened for $40,000 for the city treasurer, payable when the taxes come in. The bids were in the form of discounts, charged per year, and were as follows: Blake Bros. & Co., 3.07 per cent; Bond & Goodwin, 3.33 per cent, plus $1; Easterbrook & Co., 3.40 per cent, plus 50 cents; Old Colony Trust Company, 3.35 per cent; Perry, Coffin & Bird, 3.17 per cent; Loring, Tolman & Tupper, 3.17 per cent; Aquidneck National Bank, 3.20, plus 50 cents. All were from Boston except the last. The notes were given to Blake Bros. & Co., the lowest bidder.

Bids for the street lighting by gas were then opened. First came a letter from the Cleveland Vapor Light Company of Baltimore, which stated that the company had done business with the city of Newport for the past eight years and hoped to continue the relations. It felt that it had given satisfactory service and if it received the contract this year it intended installing a new attachment to bring the lights up to a higher candle power.

The bids were: Cleveland Vapor Light Company, present contractors—For three-foot incandescent gas street light, one year, 7½ cents; three years, 7 cents; five years, 6.9 cents, per light per night; naphtha lights, 8 cents per light per night; lamp posts, $9.

Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America—Three-foot incandescent burners, class A, 8 cents per light per night; class B, 8½ cents per light, one, three or five years; gas lamp posts $10.

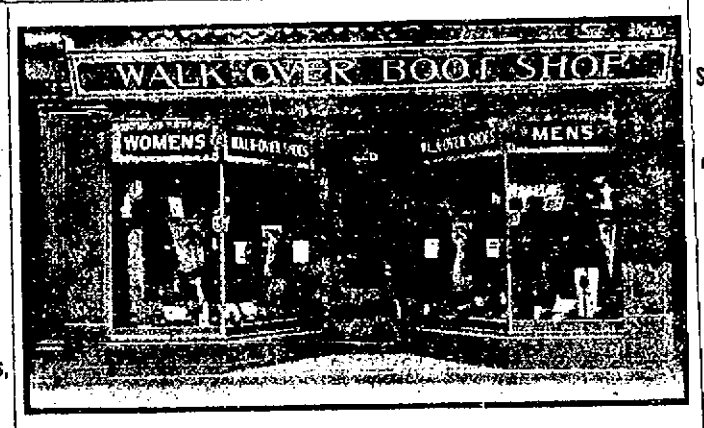

The present contract is for seven cents per light, and was for three years. Mr. Mahoney suggested that the new contract be for three years. Mr. Newbold of the Cleveland Company was introduced by Mr. Aylsworth and was asked what the saving would be if the five-year contract was made. He calculated it would be about $1,600 for the five years, figuring it roughly; this was compared with the three-year figures. Mr. Mahoney said the former contract was for three years. There was a good prospect of a reduction in the price of gas and perhaps in other things, and he thought that probably at the end of three years the city could save more than $1,600 for the remaining two years in the reduced cost of material. He moved to make the contract for three years. This seemed to be the general idea and it was voted to contract with the Cleveland Vapor Light Company for incandescent street lighting for three years at seven cents per light per night.

Mr. Shepley reported that the committee on sewer was not ready to report, but would make an investigation Saturday.

J. J. Dugan, contractor for the collection of ashes, asked about the down-town dump. He said no more would be allowed in the Wellington Avenue dump, where there is room for several weeks yet. This is the spring cleaning time and there is much material. It is a long haul to the up-town dump and the collection in the Fifth ward is made on Friday. He was interested.

Mr. Shepley said the Park Commission has put up signs against dumping by private individuals in those this state has made a net gain of 11 members, the present number being 1,857, according to the report of Grand Secretary John S. Kellogg. Seven of the 18 Councils have increased their membership during the year. Of this number Alerta Council of Auburn is in the lead, with over 31 per cent; Pawtucket Council is second with 15 per cent and Providence Council of East Providence ranks third with 10 per cent.

The finances of the Grand Council are in a good condition and show an increase in the balance over the previous year. The total amount paid to Rhode Island beneficiaries during the past year was $45,593.37. The total amount paid into the widows' and orphans' beneficiary fund for the year just closed was $64,326.53. For the year 1910, $1,277.37 was paid out for the relief of sick members. The total amount paid to Rhode Island beneficiaries since the institution of the order is $1,175,040.04. The report of the credentials committee showed that Coronet Council of this city was represented by Horace S. Brown and J. Harry Brown, and Conanicut Council, Jamestown, by William Williams.

In his report for the year Grand Regent Whitten spoke optimistically for the future of the Royal Arcanum. "Our financial condition," he said, "is excellent. All bills are paid, and by prudent economy I am able to report a larger cash balance on hand than is customary at this time of year, thus insuring to my successor the 'sinews of war' for an immediate aggressive campaign."

He said he had inaugurated an "honor roll" in which, in addition to a silver souvenir spoon given to each member for bringing in an accepted candidate, a badge of honor is presented for each candidate initiated. He had presented 25 badges of honor during the year. In respect to membership he said that while the coveted goal of 2,501 had not been reached he felt sure that his successor was entering upon a year in which there would be a great "ingathering of membership."

Grand Regent Whitten awarded badges of honor to the following members, among others, during the past year for their efforts in the upbuilding of the order: Pawtucket Council, A. E. Burnside Davis; Coronet Council, John C. Phannanueller, Horace S. Brown, S. B. Briggs, Thomas B. Tanner, Andrew K. McMahon.

The newly elected officers were installed by Deputy Supreme Regent Joseph A. Langlitt and the balance of the afternoon was devoted to addresses by members and guests.

Aquidneck Grange Discusses the Tuberculosis Cattle Bill and the Corn-Growing Contest.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Aquidneck Grange held its regular meeting Thursday evening at the town hall, Worthy Master Joseph A. Peckham presiding. During the business session the legislative bill to prohibit the importation of tuberculous cattle into the state was again taken up, but the discussion was so divided that it was impossible to take any action. The meeting was informed by one acquainted with affairs at the State House that the bill would be passed. The subject of the corn-growing contest which the State College is promoting was canvassed and the worthy master was appointed a committee to arouse interest in the matter.

Following the business session the evening was placed in the hands of the special committee—Miss Mary Manchester, Miss Lulu C. Albro and Miss Helen M. Coggeshall—and was devoted to progressive whist. But five tables were in use, as many preferred spending the evening socially. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. May Chase Spooner, fancy neck piece, and J. Willis Peckham, a book; and consolation prizes to Miss Eliza M. Peckham, handy tinware, and William C. Peckham, bottle of olives. Ice cream, cake and coffee were served under the direction of Mrs. Edward J. Peckham.

Rev. Clayton E. Delamater of West Bridgewater, Mass., was in town Thursday on business and made several short calls, including a brief stop at the parsonage to meet the new pastor, Mrs. Delamater's mother, Mrs. Billings, has recently had another attack and is quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hubbell are entertaining the latter's aunt, Mrs. Ruth Schwarz of Providence, formerly of Middletown.

The electric lights which are being introduced on the estates along Paradise avenue quite extensively are proving a great convenience in the stables and buildings about the farms.

Many spring chickens have been lost through the unseasonable cold storms this year. Reports are common that the general run of eggs are not at all fertile this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Peckham and their son have returned from Florida and are guests of Mr. Peckham's son, Mr. E. Marion Peckham, on Prospect avenue. They expect to take up their residence at Jamestown later.

A TRUE FISH STORY.

The Fall River papers of Thursday report a fishing party from that city which went out on Captain Champlin's auxiliary Alice E. They tell of bringing back 150 pounds of fish, one being a cod weighing 32 pounds. The only out about this fish story is that it is true. They did catch a big cod and some good-sized haddock, off League rock. There was no buying; they really caught the fish themselves.

While cod and haddock are biting, the tautog have not yet begun to bite off here, though it is thought a few might be caught off Castle Hill, where they usually show first in the spring.

FOOTBALL IN ENGLAND.

In attendance at four soccer football games in England on one day recently there were 194,700 paid admissions. The Swindon-Chelsea game had 75,000 and many were unable to enter inside the grounds, Newcastle United vs. Derby played before 69,700, Bradford City and Burnley had 39,000, and the Blackburn Rovers and West Ham played before 20,000. The total receipts for the four games was $37,450, many of the admissions being at low prices, some going in for sixpence and others for a shilling.

NEWPORT COMPANIES ATTACKED.

Said by Representative Sullivan to Resist the Will of the People.

Dr. Squire Also Condemns the Corporations, Especially the Water Works.

Sharp criticism of several of the public service corporations of Newport developed Friday afternoon in the hearing on the public utilities bill by the house judiciary committee. It was declared by Representative John B. Sullivan, who spoke in favor of the bill that the people of Newport are unable to force their will in any degree, upon the corporations of the city. The corporations scored were those controlling the railroad and the gas and electric lighting systems. Newport's water supply was also attacked on account of its alleged poor quality and because of the rates charged, which were said to be excessive. The bill was introduced some weeks ago by Representative Sullivan of Newport and both he and Dr. F. A. Squire spoke in favor of it.

The title of the bill, which explains the act, follows:

"An act to require all persons, firms and corporations owning or operating a telephone or telegraph line, system or exchange, or a street railway line or system, or a tunnel, subway, conduit or viaduct, or engaged in furnishing gas, steam or electricity for lighting, heating or power, or engaged in furnishing water or heat, under franchises granted by this state or any of the cities or towns thereof, or otherwise operating in such cities or towns, and all persons, firms and corporations owning or operating any other public utilities under franchises granted by this state, or any of the cities or towns thereof, or otherwise operating in such cities or towns, to charge no more for the service of such utilities than shall be fixed by ordinance by the cities or towns within which such utilities are operated, and granting to all cities or towns within the state the power and authority to fix, by ordinance, the rates to be charged for such services, and provide penalties for violation thereof, and to provide for a judicial hearing and examination of the validity of any such ordinance and the reasonableness of the rates fixed thereby."

Representative Sullivan, the first speaker in favor of the bill, said: "the people of Newport believe that Rhode Island should fall into line and enact a public utilities law. The people of Newport have been unable to force their will in any degree upon the corporations of their city. The electric and gas lighting companies of Newport are utterly indifferent to public opinion. The railroad company absolutely refuses to meet the public needs. These corporations know that they are immune, and under present conditions there is no legal way of getting back at them. The people of Newport want this act passed, but they are willing to accept any other act which will meet these conditions and which will ameliorate them." One of the greatest sources of complaint, Mr. Sullivan said, was the water supply of Newport. The water, he declared, is of poor quality and the rates charged are excessive.

Dr. A. F. Squire said he believed the city of Newport is in the grasp of the corporations. "The water two years ago," said Dr. Squire, "was positively unfit to drink unless first boiled. I have been even tried to take a bath in it, but could not, because of the offensive odor. It seems that we should have some means of compelling this corporation to furnish us with decent water. I do not believe that one per cent of the people of Newport drink this water in summer. These corporations are intolerant of interference. I believe there should be some means of controlling them in the interest of the public."
